Canada May Send Commission To Find Wheat Markets

Commons Committee Hears Proposal of Board Chairman for Broad New Methods to Increase Farmers' Sales; Endorsed by Minister of Trade

Canadian Press

Ottawa, April 30.—A royal commission to study the wheat markets of the world and recommend a Canadian policy to deal with the problem of wheat surpluses probably will be named by the government. In the commons committee on wheat marketing today such a commission was proposed by James Murray of Winnipeg, chairman of the Canadian Wheat Board, and endorsed by Hon. W. D. Euler, Minister of Trade and chairman of the committee.

The committee need not feel itself hampered in its recommendations as the government had not considered the proposal, Mr. Euler said. If the committee recommended a commission it would be a matter of government policy as to the action it would take. Members of the committee who spoke supported the commission idea, so there seemed no doubt it will decide to make recommendations to that effect. The study would include coarse grains as well.

The last commission on wheat problems was headed by Sir Josiah Stamp, prominent British financier, and reported in 1931.

FAR-REACHING SURVEY

Trade Minister Euler said he thought a commission of one or more impartial men could make a more complete and satisfactory survey of the entire wheat situation and recommend to the government better ways and means of dealing with it.

The first phase of the work of the committee, namely, whether the shorts had been unduly protected by the new Wheat Board had been pretty thoroughly studied, Mr. Euler said, and he thought it could now prepare its report. In regard to a general survey, the committee might decide to recommend a commission

WINTER EXIT DURING APRIL

Change From Winter to Summer Came About the Middle of the Month

Victoria's mean temperature, rainfall and sunshine were slightly below average for the month of April, according to the last monthly weather report issued this morning by F. Napier Denison, superintendent at Gonzales, who ended his long career this afternoon.

Next month's report will be released by W. A. Thorn, the new director.

The mean temperature for April was forty-five degrees, which was three degrees below average. The highest temperature was 66 on April 15 and the lowest 32 degrees on April 1.

A SPORTSMAN AT GOVERNMENT HOUSE

It is said of the Lieutenant-Governor designate, E. W. Hamber, that he built a fortune so that he could follow his favorite recreation of outdoor sports. At least he has often given this explanation, humorously, for his success in a wide field of business endeavor. A former Toronto Argonaut crewman, he was a member of several championship rowing teams. As commodore of the Royal Vancouver Yacht Club his yacht Vencedor and his R class sloop Lady Van are well known in coastal waters. He keeps one of the leading thoroughbred racing stables in the province, and polo ponies as well. The above is a characteristic photograph of Mr. and Mrs. Hamber. They take over their duties at Government House this week.

As Selassie Prepares to Flee He Says Ethiopia Will Fight to Last Man

One Press Dispatch Which Reaches Rome Says Italian Advance Guard Already in Addis Ababa; Panic in Capital as Main Army Approaches and Many Natives Flee Westward

Associated Press

Rome, April 30.—An unconfirmed press dispatch said Marshal Pietro Badoglio's Italian troops entered Addis Ababa today.

Other reports said the advance guards of the Fascist troops were at the city limits. Previous dispatches had reported the motorized column of 30,000 men within artillery shot of the Ethiopian capital.

EMPEROR IN CONFERENCE

Associated Press

Addis Ababa, April 30.—Emperor Haile Selassie returned to his capital at 4 p.m. today and two hours later entered into a consultation with Cornelius Van H. Engert, minister-resident and consul-general for the United States.

Order will be maintained in the capital until the Italians arrive by Mayor Blatta Takkala Wolde Hawariate with 10,000 policemen. One source in the diplomatic corps stated Wolde Hawariate had been assured he would be free to join the Ethiopian army once the capital falls.

Until his sudden return to the capital, toward which Italian troops were pressing in a long military parade, the whereabouts of the Emperor had been a mystery to the public.

STILL FIGHTING

After talking to Engert, Emperor Haile Selassie received the Associated Press correspondent and declared: "Ethiopia is not defeated. It will carry on its fight to the last man."

Before the Emperor came back to his palace, the capital was thrown into a panic by the reports that the Italians were near.

ON PLATEAU

Associated Press

Rome, April 30.—Italian press dispatches today said Marshal Pietro Badoglio's troops had arrived on the high plateau leading to Addis Ababa and were within artillery shot of the Ethiopian capital.

Sage Broadcasts Are Called Tripe

First One Put Radio Commission Chairman Charlesworth Asleep, and He Had Others Edited

Canadian Press

Ottawa, April 30.—The opinion of Hector Charlesworth, chairman of the Canadian Radio Commission, regarding the "Sage" broadcasts during the federal election campaign last fall was that they were "just tripe," he told the Commons radio committee today.

The first one had acted on him as a soporific. Following the first few lines of it he had fallen asleep. He thought, however, it was "harmless stuff."

Later, said the commission chairman, he had been informed by Norman Lambert, secretary of the Liberal Federation, the west was objecting to the broadcasts. Prior to the second he had telephoned Richard Stapells, the commission's representative in Toronto, insisting "this stuff must not only be sponsored properly by the Conservative Party, but all objectionable personalities must be removed." Stapells thereupon promised there would be no "defamatory matter in the second one."

EVEN CONSERVATIVES ANNOYED

Some "very objectionable allusions" had entered into the second broadcast, however, and Mr. Charlesworth wrote Stapells emphasizing his "troubled state of mind over it." Even prominent Conservatives in Ottawa had been censorious, Mr Charlesworth wrote.

R. J. HARTLEY PASSES HERE

Former Newspaperman, Once City Editor of The Times, Dies in Hospital

After a lingering illness, Robert J. Hartley, former newspaperman and in recent years private secretary to Hon. John Hart, British Columbia Minister of Finance, died in St. Joseph's Hospital this morning. He was sixty-seven years of age.

Mr. Hartley's death severed a link with Canadian journalism dating back more than forty years. At one time he was president of the Ottawa Press Gallery.

He was popular with the secretarial staff at the Legislative Buildings, who expressed deep regret today at his passing.

Mr. Hartley was for nine years in newspaper work in Victoria and for some time was city editor of The Victoria Daily Times. He was also with The Victoria Colonist.

Born at Tullamore, King's County, Ireland, in January, 1869, Mr. Hartley came to Canada as a youth of thirteen, joining his family in Montreal.

Vancouver Bridge Plans Are Approved

With Federal Government's Sanction Erection of Structure Over First Narrows Is Soon to Be Started

Canadian Press

Ottawa, April 30.—Plans for the proposed new high level bridge across the First Narrows of Burrard Inlet at Vancouver have been approved by the government, it was learned here today. The Lions' Gate Bridge Company will undertake the work, at an expected cost all told of approximately $6,000,000.

The bridge will connect Vancouver with the municipalities on the north shore of the inlet, and will provide speedy communication between that city and a series of parks and drives.

One of the approaches to the bridge passes through Stanley Park. The citizens of Vancouver, at a plebiscite, voted by an overwhelming majority in favor of granting the bridge company the necessary access through the park.

Reports in Paris Say Radical-Socialist May Head Cabinet

By GEORGE HAMBLETON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Paris, April 30.—Round the Palais Bourbon, where the French Chamber of Deputies meets, there is already talk of a new ministry under Edouard Daladier, leader of the Radical-Socialists.

Its creation will depend on a victory for the Popular Front, Leftist coalition, in next Sunday's second ballot in the general election. But although it would have a left wing complexion, including probably both Radical-Socialists and Socialists, it would not be a government of the Popular Front, for the Communists intend to remain outside for the time being.

Man Drowned As Car Leaves Road

John Smith of Kamloops Disappears in Seething Water When Auto Takes Plunge

John Smith of Kamloops was believed today by provincial police to have been drowned in the waters of Dead Man's Creek when the car which he was driving plunged from the road and he failed to reach the creek bank.

According to police radio advices received here Mr. Smith was driving on the road from Savona to Criss Creek and Vidette Mine, about thirty miles west of Kamloops. He was accompanied by Hugh Smith, an acquaintance.

Just as they were leaving one of the bridges on the highway the car left the road and plunged over the embankment. The two men were able to get out of the machine and get safely on top of the car. After a few minutes, however, the car turned over and they were both thrown again into the seething waters.

Hugh Smith was the only one of the two able to reach the bank safely, and when he landed he could see no sign of his companion.

Police stated the waters of the creek would not recede until June, and it was not expected the body would be recovered before that time.

Toronto, April 30.—Last big ice barrier to the opening of 1936 navigation on the Great Lakes appeared broken today and indications were that freighters would move freely by early next week. Passenger travel will follow soon.

Colleagues at Gonzales Honor Retiring Superintendent As He Leaves After Forty-eight Years' Service; "Years Have Gone Quickly," Mr. Denison Says; New Superintendent Speaks of Inspiring Location

For forty-eight years, F. Napier Denison, who retired today as superintendent of the Dominion Government's Meteorological Observatory on Gonzales Hill has been actively interested in all phases of the weather. He has been busy tracing the world's earthquakes and in many others of the earth's phenomena.

One of Mr. Denison's last official duties was to issue the April weather report to The Times today.

As he left his office on the top on Gonzales Heights today, relinquishing his position to W. A. Thorn, who has come here from Toronto, Mr. Denison said he was not through by any means with his scientific research.

During the years he has been in the government's weather service,

British Navy Asks Added $51,500,000

Supplementary Estimate Follows Original Estimates of $349,650,000; Much Construction Planned

Associated Press

London, April 30.—The British navy requires an additional appropriation by Parliament of £10,000,000 (about $51,500,000), the Admiralty announced today in a supplementary estimate.

Viscount Monsell, First Lord of the Admiralty, said in an accompanying statement the estimate provided for beginning a new naval construction programme during this year.

Provision also was made for equipment of reserves, for defence measures, required by the navy in pursuance of the government policy of increased national defences and for continuance of expenditures made necessary by the Italo-Ethiopian situation.

TWO BATTLESHIPS

The new construction programme proposed for 1936 includes building of two capital ships and five cruisers—two of the Southampton class and three of a smaller type of about 5,000 tons—nine destroyers, one air-

Mr. Denison has added much to science and he has become known all across Canada and down the Pacific Coast as one of the most expert weather observers of the present day.

While he actually leaves the service today, Mr. Denison will not be placed on the pension list until the end of October. He is being given six-months' full-time vacation by the government in recognition of his long and faithful service.

"The years have gone very quickly," he said this morning, "but they have been very delightful years and I shall always look back on them with much pleasure.

"I shall continue to be interested in scientific work and hope to carry on certain lines of research. But first I shall take two or three weeks off.

"Naturally a man must keep actively employed if he is to maintain good health."

Because he believes Victoria is the "finest city in the British Commonwealth," Mr. and Mrs. Denison will continue to live here.

For thirty-seven years they have lived at Gonzales and now, in their retirement they will not be far away.

In the main office of the observatory building this morning Mr. Denison was honored by his colleagues, who presented him with a silver flower vase, suitably inscribed. Mrs. Denison's name being coupled with the congratulations.

William Burton, senior observer, made the presentation, expressing the hope Mr. and Mrs. Denison would have many years in which to enjoy their leisure. Taken completely by surprise, Mr. Denison replied, thanking his colleagues for their good wishes and expressing his appreciation of their loyal support over many years.

"I certainly have an inspiring location in which to carry on my work," said Mr. Thorn this morning, as he looked out over Victoria to the Olympics and Mount Baker and the sparkling blue waters of the Straits and the Gulf.

"There is just wonderful, natural beauty all around," he said.

Mr. Thorn, who has been here from Toronto for about a month, was last here about fifteen years ago. He was a student at the University of Washington at the time, and frequently came over here for week-ends.

This programme, drafted by a committee representing ten left-wing party organizations and trade union federations, falls under three heads:

Defence of freedom,
Defence of peace,
Economic measures.

TO DISARM GROUPS

Under the first head come effective dissolution and disarmament of the semi-military league; and "the purification of public life," which would be achieved by forbidding deputies and senators to practice as lawyers or to be employed by companies. The law of libel would be strengthened. Newspapers would be obliged to publish full information of all their sources of revenue. Financial advertising would be strictly controlled.

Defence of peace includes a general convention for the limitation of armaments to be followed as soon as possible by a convention for a reduction in armaments. Other points are: Nationalization of armament industries and prohibition of the private sale of armaments; repudiation of secret diplomacy; adjustment of treaties under the League of Nations covenant to be more flexible; extension of regional agreements open to all on the lines of the Franco-Soviet pact.

The economic programme includes the creation of a national unemployment fund and the reduction of the working week without reduction in wages; schemes of public works to reduce unemployment; measures to reduce the spread between wholesale and retail prices; national marketing boards for grain and fertilizers. The fertilizers' board would supply the farmers at cost.

Russell to seek co-operation of the military authorities in supplying tents and equipment for the construction camp shots," said Mr. Busby in an interview at the Empress Hotel.

"We have done a lot of preliminary exterior and organization work around Glacier and at Revelstoke, but we need this equipment in a hurry, and I hope to get the co-operation I want from the military authorities in Victoria."

"I have heard you have some excellent talent in Victoria, and I hope to be able to make arrangements to include some of the local artists in the production."

ARLEN IN LEAD

Richard Arlen, who is taking the male lead of John Hickey in "The Great Divide," and Barbara Green, taking the role of Mary Moody, are at present working on studio scenes at Shepherds Bush, with the remainder of the cast, will arrive in Canada from England by the latter part of May, Mr. Busby said.

Geoffrey Barkas, English producer, who will have charge of the production, will arrive on location at the same time.

The others of the cast coming out next month are Lilli Palmer (Irish Nell Regan), Barry Mackay (Steve), Percy Parson (Hell's Bells Rogers), and Jock Mackaye (Bates).

There will be between forty and fifty in the regular cast and on the technical staff.

Thousands of extras will be used in the construction camp and riot scenes in the mountains.

Two railway construction towns, "Beavermouth" and "Holt City" are being laid out for the mountain shots, the producer stated.

Two complete trains, an old-time passenger train, and a freight construction train, are being built with the assistance of the C.P.R., for the production, which depicts the historical and construction side of the construction of the Canadian Pacific Railway and includes a dramatic love interest.

Since March 28 the company has been on location in the Selkirks shooting exterior scenes and avalanche cut-ins. At times they worked in a temperature of 10 degrees below zero.

"The Great Divide," which is the picturization of Alan Sullivan's great story, will be completed by the end of June, Mr. Busby predicted. The feature will cost about $600,000.

Gaumont-British, Mr. Busby states, is featuring a series of great empire talking pictures, the first two being "Rhodes of Africa" and "Soldiers Three," set in the Khyber Pass in India, both of which were directed by Geoffrey Barkas. The third great epic is "The Great Divide."

Shots in connection with "The Great Divide" will be taken on the liner Empress of Japan between Vancouver and Victoria on Saturday.

that the interests of navigation are adequately protected. Piers at the north end will be several hundred feet inland from the present high water mark, which will leave ample room for widening the channel when that shall be deemed necessary. No financial assistance by the government is asked or given.

The company is understood to be desirous of proceeding with the work immediately.

Vancouver, April 30.—A vast area of tourist attractions will be brought within easy access of Vancouver by the $6,000,000 bridge across the First Narrows of Burrard Inlet, permission for which was granted in Ottawa today.

The residential area of West Vancouver will be brought within five minutes' motoring distance of the heart of the city, but beyond that are some of the most picturesque drives, summer resorts and mountain park areas in British Columbia.

British capital which is building the bridge has already started the expenditure of millions of dollars in development of a 4,500-acre residential area in West Vancouver which overlooks the entire southern mainland and across the Gulf of Georgia to Vancouver Island. Miles of roads and boulevards have been laid out with not a building on them until pending authority for the bridge.

About fifty miles north is the mountain park of Garibaldi, and a hinterland of undisclosed resources.

"This is one of the best days in the history of British Columbia," said J. B. Leyland, reeve of West Vancouver, a municipality noted in recent years for its high financial standing and balanced budget. "Now we can look toward building a road to Garibaldi Park."

craft carrier, four submarines and a number of smaller vessels.

Four cruisers of the Hawkins class, which were to have been scrapped under the London Naval Treaty, will be retained.

The estimate for work on the naval base at Singapore is increased from £8,693,000 (about $43,465,000) to £10,661,000 (about $53,305,000).

EARLIER START

The supplementary estimate provides £3,000,000 (about $15,000,000) for the start of the new construction programme, so that ships may be laid down earlier in the financial year, for re-equipment of the air branch of the fleet with new type aircraft and to accelerate the supply of anti-aircraft guns to existing ships.

The Admiralty, in its original estimates, issued March 4, announced it would ask Parliament for an appropriation of £69,930,000 (about $349,650,000) to run the navy during 1936.

These estimates represented an increase of £9,880,000 (about $49,400,000) over the total expenditures last year. The first estimates were issued the day after publication of the white paper, or government report, announcing a programme for a vast expansion of defences.

"One of them asked why I allowed such tripe over the air," the communication said. Much offence had been given by the personal allusions to Mr. Mackenzie King and why the latter had not "gone to the war." Such attacks had never got the Conservative Party anywhere, the commission chairman said.

SERVICES FOR CANADA

He went into the Prime Minister's domestic circumstances in 1914, recalling if there was any man who had good reason to remain in Canada it was Mr. King.

The radio commission "knew nothing about the 'Sage' broadcasts until the first programme had gone on the air," Mr. Charlesworth today told the committee.

STILL OWE $6,000

Questioned by Paul Martin, Liberal, East Essex, Ont., Mr. Charlesworth said that on his instructions an account of $21,000 outstanding for Conservative broadcasts had been personally delivered to former Prime Minister Bennett last November.

A cheque for $15,000 had been sent to the commission in partial payment of this account and had been paid, but the witness could not recall who had signed the cheque.

Mr. Bennett had gone away during the winter thinking the account had been settled. Through some misunderstanding the balance of $6,000 was still unpaid.

Much of today's interrogation of Mr. Charlesworth by the committee was conducted by Mr. Martin, who pressed numerous questions on the employment by the commission of Don Henshaw. During the "Sage" broadcasts, which Henshaw was directing for the J. J. Gibbons Advertising Agency of Toronto, Henshaw was also employed on programme work by the commission.

Winnipeg, April 30 (Canadian Press).—J. J. Gibbons of Toronto in a statement here today assumed the "entire responsibility" for the 'Sage' pre-election broadcasts over the Canadian radio commission network last autumn.

"I personally assume entire responsibility for the Mr. Sage broadcast," said the head of the advertising agency which arranged the programmes on behalf of the Conservative Party.

"And there is nothing we are ashamed of and nothing concerning the broadcasts we are not prepared to tell the truth about," his statement added.

Italian Troops at Addis Ababa's Gates

These reports said the motorized column of fighters had passed well beyond Debra Bihran, the sacred city of Shoa.

Earlier in the day, Marshal Badoglio had reported Sasa Baneh, the gateway to Ethiopia's second city of Harar, had been taken by storm yesterday.

Sasa Baneh was taken, he said, as a climax to many days of bitter fighting.

His report came as authorities here said tension between Italy and Great Britain was relaxing and that the danger of a European war resulting from the Italian campaign was diminishing.

As that column advanced, its operations were directed by seaplanes flying from their new base on Ethiopia's vast lake reservoir for the Nile.

Badoglio's communique read:

"The powerful line of fortifications at Sasa Baneh and Bullaleh, designed and constructed by Belgian and Turkish officers, and defended with bitter force by the Ethiopians of Ras Nasibu, were taken by assault by the troops of Gen. Rodolfo Graziani.

"Sasa Baneh and Bullaleh were occupied yesterday afternoon.

"The fleeing enemy is being pursued by our motorized troops."

Italian press dispatches said the advancing Italian column in Ethiopia had taken Ancober, the important city on the southern highway to Addis Ababa and once the capital of Shoa.

QUOTE BERNARD SHAW

The newspaper Popolo di Roma, which follows closely the trend of the government's diplomacy, published a conciliatory front page editorial today in comment on a recent interview given by George Bernard Shaw, the noted British author.

"Shaw believes an Anglo-Italian conflict is impossible. We do likewise," the editorial said.

"Why should there be a conflict between the two countries when there exists no reason for friction? We wish nothing of England's, and dare hope that England wishes nothing of ours.

"We ask of England only that she let us live and leave us in peace. We do not defy nor provoke anyone, least of all England."

NATIVES FLEEING

Associated Press

Addis Ababa, April 30.—Reports that Italian troops had advanced past Debra Birhan, strategic town only seventy-five miles northeast of Addis Ababa, threw Ethiopia's capital into a panic today, and the natives began an evacuation.

Foreigners started to take refuge in the various legations, the United States citizens going to the British compound.

The northern Italian army, marching in from Dessye, was reported advancing without encountering any resistance. The advance guard of the Fascist forces was expected to reach Addis Ababa by tomorrow. High government officials were leaving the capital.

HANGARS ATTACKED

A squadron of Italian airplanes descended this morning on the Akaki airdrome, on the outskirts of the city, and machine-gunned the Ethiopian hangars. The hangars were empty.

The British legation is situated in the hills on the eastern outskirts of the city, and has elaborate underground protection.

The rainfall amounted to .88 of an inch. Wet snow and hail amounted to .2, bringing the total precipitation to .90, which was .38 below the average.

SUNSHINE ABOUT AVERAGE

For the twenty-nine days of the month ending yesterday, the sunshine amounted to 196 hours 24 minutes, which was nine hours below the average. With to-day's sunshine, however, this figure was expected to reach the average.

The present month, which started out with morning and night frosts, dull days and chilling north winds, turned into glorious weather just after the long east week-end.

Since then the growth in Victoria's gardens and parks has been amazing. The fruit trees seemed to come out almost overnight, and the city now is one great bower of bloom, with the pink and white blossoms falling over great arrays of late spring and early summer flowers.

Victorians emerged during the month from winter to near-summer. Storm doors were taken down and replaced with screen ones; furnaces and fireplaces were left black; bathing suits and hoses were taken from winter storage, and now, with the first day of May tomorrow, everyone feels ready to settled own to the varied delights of long summer.

He returned to Ireland a few years later, taking his early newspaper training on Londonderry papers.

He returned to Canada and took a post with The Montreal Herald. Always interested in political work, he became the press gallery correspondent at Ottawa for this paper. He served in similar capacity for The Ottawa Journal and The Toronto News and in 1905 was the press gallery president.

In 1908 he came out to the coast at the invitation of the Hon. William Templeman, then proprietor of The Victoria Times.

After nine years in newspaper work, during which he made many friends, Mr. Hartley became private secretary to Hon. John Hart when he went into office with the Oliver ministry. Since then he had been associated with the provincial service in other capacities, returning as Mr. Hart's secretary in 1933.

Surviving him are Mrs. Hartley, at the family residence, 318 Vancouver Street, and R. Wilfrid Hartley, a son, at 1174 Fort Street.

A private funeral will be held Saturday from Curry's Funeral Home.

Proposal to Provide Three Daytime Bulletins Besides Present Summary Approved by Members at Annual Meeting

Canadian Press

Toronto, April 30.—Proposal for establishment of a Canadian Press radio news bulletin service through the day was unanimously approved at the annual meeting of members of the Canadian Press here yesterday.

The meeting approved the memorandum presented by its president, W. B. Preston of The Brantford Expositor, and a delegation of directors who appeared April 7 last before the parliamentary committee investigating radio under the chairmanship of A. L. Beaubien. The memorandum proposes to supplement with three day-time bulletins the ten-minute summary of the day's news now broadcast each evening over the network of the Canadian Radio Broadcasting Commission.

The supplementary bulletins will be prepared at the head office of the Canadian Press in Toronto free of charge and delivered through the co-operation of the land telegraph companies at a small transmission cost to any Canadian radio station wishing the service. It is provided the bulletins must not be used with any sponsored programme.

ACCURACY DESIRED

Members affirmed the stand of the board of directors that in the national interest an accurate and unbiased day-and-night service of news on the air be made available to the Canadian public as an alternative to foreign broadcasts. The meeting welcomed the assurance of the president that the parliamentary radio committee had received sympathetically the request for continued protection of the Canadian Press and its members against theft of their news by radio stations.

MORE NEWS FROM EUROPE

Approval was given proposals of the general manager for improvement of the news service, particularly by widening the scope of British news direct from the London office of the Canadian Press.

A resolution expressing sorrow at the death yesterday of Harry W. Anderson was passed by a standing vote. Mr. Anderson, a director representing in the membership The Toronto Globe, was referred to as one of the most esteemed and loved of Canadian newspaper men.

DIRECTORS RE-ELECTED

The meeting closed with the election of directors for the ensuing year as follows: British Columbia, B. C. Nicholas, Victoria Times, and M. E. Nichols, Vancouver Province; Alberta, C. E. Campbell, Edmonton Bulletin, and O. L. Spencer, Calgary Herald; Saskatchewan, Thomas Miller, Moose Jaw Times-Herald, and J. S. Woodward, Saskatoon Star-Phoenix; Manitoba and Ontario, Port Arthur West, E. H. Macklin, Winnipeg Free Press, and W. W. McCurdy, Winnipeg Tribune; Ontario, W. Rupert Davies, Kingston Whig-Standard, W. R. Ford, London Free Press, F. I. Ker, Hamilton Spectator, C. O. Knowles, Toronto Telegram, E. Norman Smith, Ottawa Journal, and Mr. Preston; Quebec, Henri Gagnon, Le Soleil, and Oswald Mayrand, La Presse (French directors), E. J. Archibald, Montreal Star, and J. A. McNeil, Montreal Gazette; Maritimes, Senator W. H. Dennis, Halifax Herald, H. P. Duchemin, Sydney Post-Record, and H. P. Robinson, Saint John Telegraph - Journal. Messrs. Ker, McCurdy and Spencer are new recruits to the board, the others being re-elected.

Empire Press Leaders to Meet

Canadian Press

Toronto, April 30.—At the annual meeting of the Canadian section of the Empire Press Union here yesterday afternoon, J. H. Woods, C.M.G., Calgary Herald, and W. Rupert Davies, Kingston Wig-Standard, were appointed delegates to represent the Canadian section at the first annual conference of the Empire Press Union which will be held in London commencing June 8.

Mr. Woods was re-elected chairman of the section and the following are the other officers elected: Honorary secretary-treasurer, W. A. Craick, Industrial Canada, Toronto; executive committee, J. W. Dafoe, Winnipeg Free Press; P. D. Ross, Ottawa Journal; Henri Gagnon, Quebec Le Soleil; E. Roy Sayles, Renfrew Mercury, and H. T. Hunter, Maclean Publishing Company Limited, Toronto; auditor, T. F. Drummie, Saint John Telegraph-Journal.

REPRESENTATIVES NAMED

The following members of the Canadian section were appointed representatives of the council of the Empress Press Union: Mr. Woods, Mr. Ross, Mr. Dafoe, B. C. Nicholas, Victoria Times; J. F. B. Livesay, general manager off the Canadian Press, Toronto; Mr. Davies, Eugene Lamarche, Montreal La Presse; H. P. Robinson, Saint John Times-Globe; C. F. Crandall, British United Press Limited, Montreal.

MORE MEMBERS

Reports presented showed the affairs of the Canadian section were in satisfactory condition, with a slight increase in membership for the year. The section was continuing to publish its monthly news letter, which is circulated to newspapers throughout the British Empire, conveying useful and interesting information about Canadian affairs.

EXCHANGE OF JOURNALISTS

The meeting had before it for consideration a proposal from the president of the Empire Press Union, Major J. J. Astor, London, Eng., that a scheme under which Canadian journalists should be afforded opportunities for occupying temporary positions on the staffs of newspapers in England should be worked out, with possible reciprocal arrangements. This was favorably received and the delegates to the conference in London were instructed to discuss the matter in great detail.

Land Settlement Plan Is Debated

Commons Asked to Vote $500,000 to Expand Schemes

Canadian Press

Ottawa, April 30.—Land settlement as a means of unemployment relief was both praised and condemned in the House of Commons yesterday as Labor Minister Rogers sought approval of a vote of $500,000 to expand land setlement schemes.

Miss Agnes MacPhail, U.F.O.-Labor, Grey-Bruce, Ont., said it was ridiculous to place unemployed on the land when many good farmers were being driven from the land.

J. P. Pouliot, Liberal, Temiscouata, Que., criticized colonization schemes in the province of Quebec.

J. R. MacNicol, Conservative, Toronto-Davenport, told of a personal survey he had made on relief settlements in northern Ontario.

The scheme was not a new one, said Mr. Rogers. It had been carried on for a number of years in co-operation with the provinces, which selected the settlers and the land and arranged all details. Of the settlers so far placed 80 per cent had remained on the land and he regarded that percentage as encouragingly high.

IN ONTARIO

In her own constituency, said Miss MacPhail, she knew of farmers' sons, skilled in farming, who wanted land, but they could get no help to enable them to establish themselves. Yet the government was willing to spend money placing city people with no love for the land and no training, on farms.

Mr. Rogers told Miss MacPhail all the settlers were still receiving assistance. They got $500 the first year and $100 in following years.

Mr. MacNicol said he had visited some twenty-five relief settlers last summer and found most of them contented and doing reasonably well. He thought the scheme was working satisfactorily and should be continued.

P.R. SYSTEM OF VOTING URGED

Canadian Press

Ottawa, April 30.—Electoral reform was absolutely necessary if democracy was to be preserved, W. C. Good, a former member of Parliament for Brant, Ont., informed the House of Commons committee on elections and franchise yesterday.

The committee has been looking into the proportional representation system of voting, and Mr. Good appeared yesterday as an advocate of that system.

"I would like to see it tried out in southwestern Ontario, which is fairly thickly populated," he said.

Mr. Good was the only witness at yesterday's brief sitting of the committee. The committee adjourned until Friday.

Toronto, April 30.—Reduction in membership of the Ontario Legislature before the next election was promised by Premier Hepburn yesterday.

EMDEN'S MONTREAL VISIT IS WATCHED

Associated Press

Ottawa, April 30.—The visit of the German cruiser Emden to Montreal is not at the invitation of the Dominion Government, but is concurred in by the government and the usual courtesies extended to foreign warships will be extended to the vessel.

Prime Minister King gave this information to the House of Commons yesterday when questioned by Sam Jacobs, Liberal, Montreal-Cartier, and T. C. Douglas, C.C.F., Weyburn, Sask. Mr. Jacobs asked if the visit was with the approval and consent of the government and if a protest had been received from the Mayor of Montreal, who feared riots. Mr. Douglas wanted to know if any public money would be expended in connection with the visit.

Mr. King was not aware of any appropriation of public money.

Berlin, April 30.—The "disgrace" of Dr. Hugo Ekener, veteran Zeppelin expert, has been lifted by the Propaganda Ministry. Private sources revealed this yesterday evening.

The airship genius thus apparently has won out over Minister of Propaganda Goebbels. The propaganda ministry declined to admit the ban on the use of his name in German newspapers had been washed away, but it likewise never admitted any measures had been taken against him.

LOW RECORD IMMIGRATION

OTTAWA STATISTICS THIS WEEK INdicate immigration into Canada has dropped to a level which sets a low record for the last forty or fifty years. During January, 1936, only 499 immigrants entered the country. The previous low mark was set in February, 1935, when 559 persons were admitted. On the basis of percentage to population, the present rate probably sets an all-time low record. Of course, it is at least partly the result of studied policy, reflecting the general opinion throughout the country favoring restriction on the flow of newcomers to this country while the unemployment rolls are so heavily encumbered.

With our vast but sparsely-populated areas, immigration is a perennial problem for Canadians. Professor D. C. Harvey, a former Rhodes scholar, later head of the Department of History in the University of British Columbia and now archivist of Nova Scotia, recently delivered a series of fourteen trans-Canada radio lectures. These lectures, dealing with all aspects of immigration from the days of the fur traders down through the boom days and the post-war years, have now been published in permanent book form by Clarke-Irwin and Company, Toronto. The question, "Whither now?" Mr. Harvey poses in concluding. "To those who wish to get all the old immigration literature and machinery in motion," he replies, "I would say, let us first consider the cost and the results of our past activities, and see whether they justify a renewal of these activities in whole or in part, with or without modification."

He points out that the population of Canada rose from 3,690,000 in 1871 to 10,377,000 in 1931, an increase of 6,687,000 in sixty years. During these years 6,000,000 immigrants came to Canada. But of these only some 2,250,000 appear in the last census. After allowance for deaths, this means that upwards of 3,000,000 have migrated to the United States or returned to their countries of origin. Many native-born Canadians also migrated to the United States.

Mr. Harvey comes to the conclusion that the population of Canada would have reached 10,000,000 by natural increase alone if there had been no immigration, and had native-born citizens been retained at home. These facts raise the question in Mr. Harvey's mind of the utility of further immigration to Canada, or, at least, they stir grave doubts as to the wisdom of setting up elaborate and expensive agencies for reviving the immigrant industry. For, while it is doubtful whether Canada has gained numerically, there is no doubt that she has been put to great trouble and expense in her efforts to Canadianize many of the newcomers in addition to rearing and educating those she has lost by emigration.

Canada, in other words, says Mr. Harvey, "has practically exchanged 2,000,000 of Canadian-born for 2,000,000 of foreign-born, many of whom have to learn, some of them reluctantly, the language and ways of their adopted country." But that is not all, as there is the item of cost. Since Confederation, it is estimated, Canada has expended more than $50,000,000 on immigration propaganda and assistance alone, much of it in the final result only providing more migrants for the United States.

What are Canadians to do about it? It is obvious, asserts Mr. Harvey, we are faced with a grave decision as to our future immigration policy. We are not likely to be flooded with immigrants as in the pre-war days, as many countries which sent them then now need their people at home. However, it is probable any relaxation of our selective policy or attempts to stimulate the flow would attract many, adding to existing political and economic difficulties. Therefore, he concludes, Canada is pursuing a wise course in not lifting a finger to stimulate immigration at present and should continue to select very carefully those who would come of their own accord or the aegis of societies or individuals, however distinguished. The present low rate of immigration is thus, in itself, to be regarded as not unsatisfactory.

DOGS UNDER ABERHART

THE LATEST POLICY OF THE ABERhart government in Alberta concerns dogs, and in a fashion which will please neither them nor their owners. Alberta is going to tax ordinary dogs at the rate of $1 a year, but on pedigreed dogs—and here is the discrimination which is bound to incur the criticism of dog owners and radical economists alike—the tax is to be $10.

On what basis this discrimination is made between pedigreed dogs and dogs of proletarian origin, we are not informed in the Edmonton dispatches. It has not been proved, so far as we know, that aristocratic dogs derive a greater service from the state than mongrels. On the other hand, the ownership of a thoroughbred terrier these days is hardly a proof of ability to pay taxes. Perhaps the deeper economic purpose behind the new dog policy is to discourage the production of thoroughbreds and build a sturdy mongrel democracy in Alberta.

We think we can already hear our Socialist friends saying that such a policy is strictly in accordance with the general programme of Social Credit as attempted in Alberta. The policy of the Aberhart government, our Socialist friends say, is a mixture of capitalism, socialism, and Alice-in-Wonderlandism. In its origin it is a mongrel policy, of uncertain ancestry and still more doubtful posterity.

This is what Mr. Aberhart's enemies will say, but probably they are going too far. It has yet to be proved that Mr. Aberhart has any policy at all, beyond an increase in taxes and a default on debt. We do not know how the people of Alberta feel about all this, but it must be somewhat of a disappointment—the kind of pin-prick which rouses electorates and destroys governments—when you are expecting a monthly dividend of $25 in every mail and you receive, instead, a bill of $10 because your dog is a thoroughbred.

THE NEW INCUMBENT

THE ANNOUNCEMENT OF THE APpointment of Mr. Eric W. Hamber as Lieutenant-Governor of British Columbia will be received with satisfaction throughout the province, and both he and his charming wife may rest assured of an especially warm welcome from all Victorians when they come to take up their residence at Government House.

The new Lieutenant-Governor, of course, established himself in this province many years ago as an industrialist, particularly in the development of the lumber business, and he is thus fully equipped with an understanding of the economic problems of British Columbia.

As a sportsman, he has much in common with the King, whom he will represent for the next five years, and all sports-lovers of the province will know that in Mr. Hamber they will have a kindred spirit, who will maintain the high traditions of the office.

VANCOUVER'S JUBILEE PRESENT

VANCOUVER'S JUBILEE PRESENT IS to be the First Narrows Bridge. Announcement in Ottawa yesterday that the federal government had approved this project comes fittingly at the moment when Vancouver is about to start celebrating its fifty years of unique progress. The new bridge, however, will be far more than a Vancouver project. It will be the highest suspension bridge in the British Empire and one of the longest—190 feet above high water, 1,500 feet over its central span. The largest ships on the Pacific will easily pass under it while motor traffic is moving across it.

Springing from Stanley Park on one side and from the North Shore on the other, the bridge will form a striking gateway to one of the empire's great ports. It will bring the whole of the North Shore, that lovely area of mountain, stream and forest, close to the heart of the city, and in a few years will carry to work in the morning and home in the evening part of Vancouver's population.

Already the British interests which are constructing the bridge are developing residential areas on the North shore in the belief that the population of the future will need them. Thrusting its way up the sides of the North Shore mountains, Vancouver will become one of the most spectacular cities in the world.

Only fifty years ago Indians lived on the land to be occupied by the bridge approaches. Square-rigged windjammers sailed through the First Narrows loaded with lumber from the sprawling village which had just proclaimed itself the City of Vancouver.

Few of the cities of men have achieved in half a century anything like Vancouver's growth. The construction of the new bridge in this Jubilee year shows that in the judgment of British capital—and there is none more conservative in the world—Vancouver's greatest era of development is just commencing. As a neighbor and an old friend, Victoria has a very real interest in the bridge and the era of expansion which it presages, for in this progress Victoria undoubtedly will share.

HONOR AMONG MEN

MYRIAD FORMULAS HAVE BEEN OFfered to insure permanent economic recovery, but a New York clergyman has come forth with a solution that seems to have been overlooked.

The key to the "more abundant life" is just this, says the Rev. Minot Simons of New York City—a return to men of honor. For a long time, he points out, there has been an underside of the world's life where standards of honor seem to have disappeared.

Now it is clear, this clergyman contends, that honor, the basic virtue of dependability and progress, must be restored among men and nations if civilization is to go onward and upward. If honor goes, everything goes with it—business, character, social relationships, civilization itself.

In a word, man holds the baton over his own destiny. When he takes to the double-cross, he winds up by double-crossing himself.

What Other Papers Say

IT IS A SAD STORY
The Windsor Daily Star

Londoners who fought the electrification of the city-owned London and Port Stanley Railway twenty odd years ago, must be getting a good deal of personal satisfaction out of the fact that their prophecies have come true, even though the financial reverses hit them, as well as the rest of the taxpayers.

REVERSE FOR SOCIAL CREDIT
The Calgary Herald

General conditions are much improved over what they were a few years ago when farm prices were at the lowest levels and unemployment the greatest. In those past years the Alberta Government of the day did not find it necessary or advisable to default. But the advent of this new Social Credit government has brought this condition of default on the province.

Premier Aberhart and his colleagues may be under the impression that they have done a smart thing, and have not been bluffed. But sane, conscientious citizens must indeed regret that this splendid province was the first of all Canadian provinces to default a bond debt.

Such a step is contrary to all British traditions and conceptions of public responsibility. It is no feather in the cap of the Social Credit Party, but just the reverse.

BRAIN TRUST NO. TWO
The Baltimore Sun

It looks as if American politics were now regarded as a push-over for professors. Anyway, after three years of jeering at Mr. Roosevelt's Brain Trust, the Republicans have now taken on a Brain Trust of their own. The Liberty League already has a Brain Trust, but the league has not been doing so well of late as to commend its intellectual arm to the Republican party. This may seem to some an undue animadversion working in two directions, but few will object to the G.O.P. decision to have its own personal Brain Trust. The professors thus far mentioned as Republican Brain Trusters appear to be "sound" men, with no nonsense about them. Nevertheless, whatever their past, these men are professors, and the Republicans have taught us that professors are dangerous. If not actually allied with Moscow, they have close contacts with Stalin through subterranean channels.

MICE AND MEN

To the Editor:—The cause of meningitis is unknown; the cure is not known either. In this day it seems customary to attribute unknown causes of disease to the activity of a germ, the cure to a serum.

The press (April 26) published a reference to the experiments of two men and one woman in England on wretched animal victims; this being a common fashion of the day. These Scientific investigators (Scientific with a capital S, of course) have picked on mice as a cause of spinal meningitis.

Trying to make some sense out of the confused and unexplanatory explanations given for such profound reasoning, one is impressed by its inconclusiveness. Even the experimenters seem too bewildered to discover how the poison (of the disease?) enters the human body. In some inexplicable manner, however, the blame is fixed on mice.

Of course, all this pitiably nonsensical reasoning would not cause us one heart-pang if it were not for the suffering of the wretched animals which are yearly tortured in their thousands by Scientists (with a big S). Such persons seem anxious to impress an unenviably dull public opinion with their own importance, and draw salaries for doing so at the same time. (The salaries come from the public purse usually.)

Another point to consider in all this dabbling with sera and vaccines and tortured animals is that sera destroy the blood cells and therefore nothing useful to man is likely to evolve from such experiments.

Before anti-typhoid inoculation was practiced in the army, cerebro-spinal meningitis was practically unknown among soldiers. This fact caused some speculation in the medical ranks.

MOVIES AND YOUTH

To the Editor—The psychology expert from the University of British Columbia says in Tuesday's Times that "a bad movie never turned a good boy bad." Possibly not. But bad movies have undoubtedly turned bad many potentially good boys.

The complaisance, and more than complaisance, with which those primarily responsible for modern education regard the general prevalence of wickedness in Christianly educated countries, reminds one of the old French saying, 'When cathedrals are built to the glory of God Almighty, care is taken not to give offence to the Devil." Added to which, must not the present fiendish Christian attack on fellow-Christians in Ethiopia, be very pleasing to the Devil?

This psychology expert tells us the previous week, as to Intelligence, that "Heredity sets the limits beyond which you cannot go, but you will never reach those limits without the proper environment."

That students can accept so ridiculous a statement without turning a hair, shows the successful efforts of subversionists, in deadening the speculative and critical faculties. Turning back the clock of intellectual progress, it demonstrates the educational policy of unadulterated Hitlerism, which is rearing its hydra-head in very many directions.

Did Shakspeare's oceanic intellect show inability to rise above heredity and enviornment?

Was it circumscribed by his environment? for his mother was a cook (meaning no disrespect to the sisterhood), and his father a feeble broken-down wastrel.

The Bible says we shall know the Truth, whereby obtaining freedom.

Could we ever know it, were intelligence powerless to rise above heredity and environment? Can we get nearer to Truth, without first learning to recognize Humbug?

NEW B.N.A. ACT PLAN OPPOSED

Ottawa, April 30.—The Senate yesterday heard George Lynch-Staunton, Conservative, Hamilton, register objection to any action of the British Parliament which would give Canada the right to amend the British North America Act.

In its present Parliament and in the provincial Legislatures, Canada had all the power the British Parliament could give, except that enabling the Dominion to establish itself as a sovereign state, he insisted.

GIRLS KEEN ON FLYING JOBS

Stiff Requisites For Skyway Hostesses, But Many Bid For Positions

Canadian Press

New York, April 30.—Requirements are strict, yet thousands of young women are seeking the comparatively few hostess jobs available on passenger ships of the nation's air lines.

Six years ago the first major transport line announced it was adding women to its regular crews. Since then the beauty, charm and bravery of the hostesses who cruise the skies have become traditional—and applications from young women have crammed the files of the major companies. One line has 2,000 applications, but insists there is a shortage of qualified women.

Generally stated, the air-minded young woman must fill these requirements if she would don the pert uniform of the stewardess:

She must be a graduate nurse.

Her height must not be more than five feet four, for may she weigh more than 120 pounds.

She must not be more than twenty-six years old.

She must have an engaging personality; be solicitous of the comfort of others, and capable of performing a variety of tasks, from explaining the fundamentals of aerial navigation to helping change a diaper.

One of the air lines operates a school to polish its stewardesses, classes going into such things as passenger psychology, how to make air travelers comfortable, serving lunches and answering questions about the geography of the routes flown.

The stewardess must be a registered nurse, explains an airline representative, "because the institutionally trained girl has an understanding of discipline and a knowledge of how to deal with the public that is required in the job of stewardess."

The stewardess may not be "beautiful but dumb."

She must have sense enough to be able to carry her end of almost any conversation. She must have poise in the presence of the great and near great, for many in these classifications travel by air—politicians and movie stars, opera singers and captains of industry.

The ranks of these aerial Jacquelines-of-all-trades are constantly being depleted by that quick bank-and-turn which lands women in front of altars. Says an airline official:

"A majority of the stewardesses who have given up their work to become housewives have married pilots, while several others have married passengers."

Sees Specialized Drama Field Here

Value of Drama in School and Adult Education Subject of Talk by Major H. B. King

The value of drama in education, not only as a study but as a method of teaching, both for school and for adult pupils, was stressed by Major H. B. King, director of educational rehabilitation with the provincial government, in a speech at last night's session of the B.C. Drama Festival.

"For a long time we have been so busy preparing students for examinations that we have not had time to educate them," he said.

"Drama opens up the possibility of beginning to educate them."

The purpose of education was twofold, said Major King. It served society and also the individual. Until a student was properly balanced in his individual growth and adjusted to society as a whole, he was not an integrated personality.

LEARNING NOT PASSIVE

"The modern school aims at being an activity school," he said. "Learning is no longer passive. We know now that we must learn with our whole body, not just the mind."

In the study of history, in reading, in almost every branch of education, the drama had its place not only as a subject but as a method of learning.

"Drama will assist in socializing the individual. I do not mean in turning him into a socialist—many of them that I know are not properly socialized—but in providing him with social experiences," said Major King.

MENTAL HEALTH

Both to the adult and to the child drama was of value in teaching the sinking of the individual self in larger interests. It promoted mental health by being both an escape from normality and a contact with normality.

Drama as an educational factor could be of service to the introvert, the exhibitionist and the person suffering from a feeling of inferiority. To the first it brought an emotional outlet; to the second it taught co-operation, and to the third it gave confidence and the possibility of success.

In adult education, Major King believed drama would have a special role in isolated communities. "It is very urgently needed there," he said, "people develop idiosyncracies. The narrowness of mind in some small communities is unbelievable."

In general he said drama could make people happier and mentally more efficient.

Major King was introduced by Mrs. Ethel Reese Burns.

Miss Nellie C. Cornish Greets "Cromwell's Chair" As Best Performance So Far in Festival

A vision of the development of a specialized drama in Victoria was offered to the audience and players at last night's session of the fifth annual British Columbia Drama Festival at the Shrine Auditorium by the adjudicator, Miss Nellie C. Cornish.

"What a wonderful thing it would be," she continued, "if Victoria became a shrine for all that is best in the theatre.

"There is a great opportunity here. There is no community so alive dramatically that I know of, or so interested in dramatic things. I think it is ready to do something."

To reach such a state of affairs mean hard work and long study. Drama must not be given to the public until it had come to life, said Miss Cornish.

She saw a field for historical and sectional drama here, in the wide appeal of the story of British Columbia.

"I believe we will have a western culture," she said. But she went on to warn "We shall never have it until we have taste."

"If we heard a musical programme presented in the way some plays are given, we should be shocked."

VALUABLE ADVICE

In the course of her adjudication on the four plays presented during the evening, Miss Cornish gave much valuable advice to amateur actors and to playwrights as well.

Among the points which she stressed were the following:

That acting is not a matter of the face and voice alone, but that the whole body, right down to the heels, must speak.

That amateur playwrights are inclined to make the mistake of "not knowing when enough is plenty," spoiling good situations by adding superfluous lines.

That one of the first essentials of good acting is to study the manner in which people behave in everyday life, and to act naturally.

That many plays are spoiled by a poor curtain. In this connection, Miss Cornish said that at the Cornish School, Seattle, of which she is the founder and director, curtains were rehearsed just as often and as fully as the lines.

BEST PERFORMANCE YET

The highest praise of the evening went to "Cromwell's Chair," a comedy by Constance Gilmour, presented by the Punch and Judy Theatre under the direction of Christopher Frere, with the following cast: Mary Ellen Preston, Mabel Ridley; Joe Preston, Jack Atkinson; Sarah Ann Whiteoak, Muriel Thompson; Cromwell Butterfield, Douglas Flintoff; Mr. Horsforth-Newley, Christopher Frere, and Mrs Horsforth-Newley, Valerie Swan.

Constance Gilmour is the pen-name of Muriel Thompson, who took one of the parts in the play. Her mother, Mabel Ridley—also one of the players—and herself once had an antique business. It was there that the young playwright obtained the idea for this highly successful piece.

The piece, in dialect, is an episode in the life of a Yorkshire household which makes a living out of selling alleged antiques, obtained from the cheap stores in the case of pottery and made by Cromwell Butterfield in the case of the furniture, to self-styled connoiseurs who stop at the house to rest after a climb up a stiff hill.

The chair around which the episode revolves is known as Cromwell's chair from the name of its maker, but a couple from Brighton jump at the historical bait contained in the name and go away contented with a piece of furniture which was only finished the previous day, and pay £75 for it.

In her adjudication, Miss Cornish said:

"I think this is the best thing we have heard up to this point.

"The characterization was excellent and the speed good. It was an excellent play from the writing standpoint and they did it admirably. This was one piece which really made us escape from ourselves."

The hearty laughter and applause of the audience backed up Miss Cornish's words.

INTERMEDIATE ENTRY

An intermediate entry, "Potato Soup," by the Cole Players, was the first item on the programme. The play by Elias Day was directed by Enid Cole, and presented by the following cast:

Mrs. Foley (the mother), Iris Pembridge; Timm Foley (her crippled boy), Ilace Roskelly, and Mary Jane Foley (the daughter), Betty Fawcett.

In this performance the honors went to a girl, Ilace Roskelly, who played the part of a boy so well that the adjudicator thought she really was a boy until the audience informed her otherwise.

"She certainly was a good little actor," said Miss Cornish.

For the rest, the piece, a melodramatic story of the struggle of an Irish family in Chicago who had lived for four days on nothing but potato soup, did not quite give the right atmosphere, Miss Cornish said.

She did not think the mother gave the impression of age, sorrow or trouble sufficiently. She added that the playwright had not known when to stop in some places.

INTERESTING PIECE

"Nantucket Light," a romantic comedy written and directed by Archie MacCorkindale, presented by the Punch and Judy Theatre Players, was described by the adjudicator as "A very interesting performance on the whole; an amusing story, not new, but I enjoyed it."

Miss Cornish said the actors in this play were inclined to overdraw their parts. She also had criticism for the costumes, which she considered slightly exaggerated.

The story, set in a winter afternoon of 1840, is of a girl betrothed to a sailor who will not come home for another two years. The grudging character of the aunt with whom she lives, the unwanted attentions of another suitor, and a misunderstanding over a message, contribute to her misery. However, at the close everything is straightened out.

PLAY NOT UP TO PLOT

"I don't think the play was good enough for the plot" was Miss Cornish's comment on "Wipe Away the Blood,' a grim comedy written by Archie MacCorkindale, and presented by the Punch and Judy Theatre Players under the direction of Vivien Combe with the following cast: The Princess Kolarenski, Noel Cusack; Lady Margaret Wyndom, Lucy Wharton; Robert Carlton, Ned Ashe, and an Italian peasant, Morris Johnson.

The story is that of an Englishwoman who has married an expatriated Russian prince. She is marooned with another companion on a stormy night in a deserted villa near Bordighera on the Italian Riviera. A former lover whom she had deserted in favor of the title, and who was supposed to have been drowned on the coast there, appears to her in the grim half light of the deserted room. She thinks he is alive until she finds, after he has gone, that the blood which she had wiped from a wound on his arm has disappeared from her handkerchief.

"The performance of Robert was very true and sincere," said Miss Cornish. The princess was good."

She thought the lighting might have been better arranged. The curtain was too much delayed, she said.

The festival will continue at the Shrine auditorium at 7.45 o'clock this evening.

UNIQUE PLAY MAKES SLAM

Forcing of Trump With Side Cards Permits Declarer to Overtrump Opponents in Both Directions

By WM. E. McKENNEY

Just a few days before the death of the great expert, Louis I. Watson, we were discussing one of the hands that appeared in his daily bridge column. The hand was submitted to him by the Alibi Club of Philadelphia.

He wrote about the hand and admitted later that his analysis might have been wrong. We did discover a loophole in the hand and prepared another hand with the same trump situation. He was going to explain this hand by way of an "alibi," which he thought should give him membership in the Alibi Club.

The play is quite unusual. What classification it comes under is hard to say. I think it is probably a variation of the "smother play." I know that you will find it quite interesting.

I am not going to attempt an explanation as to how declarer arrived at the contract of seven clubs, but the odd part of the hand is that, even though East holds three clubs to the queen, and West holds the jack and one, neither can make a trump trick if the hand is played properly.

East's natural opening is the deuce of hearts. This trick is won in dummy with the ace. Three rounds of spades are taken, the last trick being won on the board with the king. Now the king of hearts is cashed and declarer's last spade discarded.

A small heart is ruffed with the deuce of clubs. Then follow the ace and king of diamonds, a small heart being discarded from dummy. A small diamond is ruffed in dummy with the three of clubs.

This leaves dummy with the A-9-6 of clubs and a small heart; West holds the J-7 of clubs and J-7 of diamonds. North's remaining cards are the K-10-8 of clubs and a small diamond, while East holds the Q-5-4 of clubs and the jack of hearts.

The last heart is led from dummy. If West trumps, declarer over-trumps and can now finesse East out of the queen of clubs.

If West discards a diamond, declarer trumps with the eight of clubs and then plays his last diamond. East, having nothing but clubs, must trump and the trick is overtrumped in dummy. The ace and king of clubs win the last two tricks.

Potato Supply Shows Decrease

Minister of Agriculture Tells Commons of Position As Price Rises

Canadian Press

Ottawa, April 30. — Agriculture Minister Gardiner yesterday informed the House of Commons recent advances in potato prices were warranted by crop and marketing conditions, according to reliable information in his department.

The minister dealt with a series of questions asked by Hon. H. H. Stevens, Reconstruction Party leader. Mr. Stevens had drawn attention to a press dispatch which, he said, stated there was a shortage of potatoes in Canada. He wished to know if the government was aware this statement was unwarranted, and retail prices for potatoes had advanced as a result of it.

The government was not aware the statement was unwarranted, the minister replied. "On the contrary, reliable information shows the crop and marketing position warranted a sharp price advance in potatoes. Commercial storage holdings in Canada at April 1 totaled only 48,152 tons against 246,673 tons in 1935."

Mr. Gardiner quoted from a prominent New York trade journal to show increased demand and advanced prices had prevailed in the United States during April.

"Alice" the elephant in the Bronx Zoo, is the most expensive boarder there. She takes 150 pounds of hay, fifteen loaves of rye bread, and a pail of bran mixed with oats every day.

Move to Expand Fish Markets

Commons Votes $200,000 for Newspaper Advertising and Other Steps in Canada

Canadian Press

Ottawa, April 30.—Development of the domestic and foreign markets for Canadian fish will be attempted through a vote of $200,000 passed by the House of Commons yesterday. It was in addition to the vote of $300,000 for needy fishermen.

Part of the money will be spent in newspaper advertising to educate the people to the good qualities of Canadian fish, Fisheries Minister Michaud said.

Robert Finn, Liberal, Halifax, renewed his suggestion of minimum prices for fish with the government paying the difference between them and the prevailing prices as it does for wheat.

Two British Columbia members, Thomas Reid, Liberal, New Westminster, and A. W. Neill, Independent, Comox-Alberni, agreed the problem came down to prices. Mr. Reid suggested cutting transportation costs to inland centres.

A. E. Maclean, Liberal, Prince, P.E.I., urged lower express rates for fresh fish.

Conservative Leader Bennett said expenditure on advertising fish was not new and had not been particularly successful in the past.

A more effective way of assisting the industry, Mr. Bennett believed, would be to devise some way of getting good fresh fish from the Atlantic coast to the markets of Toronto, Montreal and Ottawa and from the Pacific coast to the prairie cities.

The minister told the Opposition leader his department was doing everything to encourage the co-operative projects sponsored by St. Francois Xavier University in Nova Scotia. He believed the salvation of the fishermen in the Maritimes was wrapped up in this co-operative movement.

PRINCE FORMING MONGOL COUNCIL

Associated Press

Peiping, April 30. — Unconfirmed, but apparently reliable, Chinese reports yesterday said the powerful Inner Mongolian Prince Teh Wang was forming a new independent Inner Mongol council under Japanese pressure, with four Japanese holding high ministries.

Prince Teh, chieftain of the "Mongolian Autonomy League," was expected to proclaim within a few days formation of a new Japanese-sponsored autonomous state, with some name such as "Mongkuo," which would be a counterpart to the Japanese-advised Manchukuo.

Stamp News

New stamps of Great Britain, picturing King Edward VIII, will be a radical departure from the former types, in that they will carry a half - length picture of the King in naval uniform, and bareheaded. Former stamps showed head and neck of the ruling sovereigns.

Great Britain, it is reported, may cede the island of Cyprus, ancient land of copper, to Greece, in return for the more sheltered ports of the Cyclades Islands. Cyprus was a Turkish possession before 1878, when it was turned over to Great Britain. The colony issued a beautiful set of stamps in 1928, commemorating its fiftieth year under British rule. If the change is made, new Green stamps may be expected.

France Sees War Germ In Austrian Insurance Scandal

By MORRIS GILBERT

Paris, April 18.—French eyes are already turning toward the eastern edge of the European political horizon where they think the forty-year-old refrain of Kipling's war correspondent—"Trouble in the Balkans in the Spring"—is taking on new meaning, as it did at Serajevo, twenty-two summers ago.

The Rhine reoccupation is water under the bridge, it is felt here, but perhaps the next step has already been prepared for German aggrandizement in the east.

There is a supposition that the new "Serajevo" will be an anti-Jewish campaign in Austria, led by Nazi elements there which would "force" Hitler to take "pacificatory" measures.

If this be on the cards, the first step toward its accomplishment has already been taken, some French observers feel. They find it in a comparatively unimportant financial item with an Austrian date-line. The item reported the collapse of the Austrian Phoenix Insurance Company.

The Austrian "Phoenix" was a Jewish firm. Reports reaching Paris seem to indicate that the collapse was hand-made by enemies of the company, and that the affairs of the firm were not in such a serious state that it could not have been salvaged.

The next step, French prophets declare, might be a series of "sensational revelations" about the Phoenix directors, much on the same scale as Paris's Stavisky case. Whipping anti-Jewish feeling in Vienna to fever-heat, the scandal could then be used for political purposes.

At the same time a Hungarian demonstration against Slovenia would set the eastern kettle boiling, and France's Little Entente partners would have a serious time holding together.

So that if not "in the Spring," Kipling's "trouble in the Balkans" might happen any time thereafter according to this theory—especially after Germany has had a chance to build up a barrier along the Rhine as an effective halt for French assistance to her allies in eastern Europe.

Veteran of Forty-four Murder Trials

"Stuart Henderson for the defence." That phrase has a familiar ring in every courtroom of British Columbia. It has been heard often in the last forty-five years while Canada's greatest criminal lawyer has built up the reputation he now enjoys.

The veteran of more than forty murder trials paused during a court recess the other day to pose in his gowns for The Times cameraman. He then returned to the Court of Appeal where he is fighting for the lives of three George brothers, Indians, convicted of the murder of Constable Frederick Gisbourne at Merritt two years ago.

The George brothers represent numbers forty-two, forty-three and forty-four among the men Stuart Henderson has defended on murder charges. Of the others only two were hanged and one of them, claims Mr. Henderson, was an innocent man.

Despite his seventy-two years, the venerable lawyer bears up well under the involved appeal court argument he has been conducting since the beginning of last week—on his feet for eight days of court sittings, four hours a day.

Mr. Henderson is at his best in Indian cases. He likes them better. He understands the native mind and their customs, though he never learned to talk a word of the Indian language. His method, he says, is to treat Indians as equals. As a result he is welcomed on any Indian reservation like a great chief.

His most famous and most romantic case was that of the almost legendary Indian outlaw, Gun-a-noot. Gun-a-noot, whose name meant "The Bear Who Climbs a Tree" took to the hills after a double killing at Hazelton years ago. For years the forces of the law chased him, spending half a million dollars but he might never have been found if he had not given himself up so his children could be educated.

He sent for Stuart Henderson, the Indians' friend. Mr. Henderson defended him, secured an acquittal and Gun-a-noot lived to became one of the best known figures of the north and guide to many big game hunters.

His first case was that of two Chinamen accused of beating another Chinese to death at Ashcroft. That was in 1891. The pair were identified by eye-witnesses. One of them signed a confession. But they were delivered free men after young Mr. Henderson argued their cause.

Once Mr. Henderson secured the release of nineteen Chinese drug peddlers because their committal papers did not say they must pay the costs of their trial.

Many cases of this kind—especially those involving a client's life—have built about the kindly old lawyer almost a legendary air. Yet he is more human, more garrulous than most. He takes snuff and shuts himself in a small office without a telephone—perhaps those are his only eccentricities.

ARION CLUB SCORES AGAIN

Well Varied Programme Enjoyed by Large Audience

By G. J. D.

The Arion Club closed its forty-fourth season of indoor appearances with a concert yesterday evening given at the Empress Hotel.

Its programme, evidently carefully selected, had contrast, range and weight to make it sufficiently popular to a large and appreciative audience.

For some seasons the members seemingly stressed first the importance of a correctness in performance—somewhat overlooking the importance of singing with a heart, the getting inside the music—without which ensemble singing especially is stale and unprofitable.

Last evening W. C. Fyfe, the recently appointed conductor, got more than this, and the Arionites responded to the significance of the words, and the evident painstaking rehearsals, with distinguishing fervor and expressive results, making a greater impression on their hearers than on some former public appearances. Not that all things were ultra proficient or even all of the twelve numbers were on an even keel in finish or presentation.

"On Wings of Song," for instance, wanted further adjustment of "sections." The repeated, "The Night Wind" (Farley), which had excellent moanings of the howling winds, was a bit ragged, and had better executed pianissimos than its initial performance, and the "Barcarolle," from "The Tales of Hoffmann," was on the flat side throughout and lacked spirit.

One of the club's best efforts was the expressive number, "Night-Witchery" (A. M. Storch), unaccompanied. This had a fine quality of tone, and the last verse a beautiful, plaintive pianissimo. "The Song of the Volga Boatmen" (arranged by Granville Bantock) had its repetition, the softened passages obtained in the distant voices being quite good. The singers, perhaps, could do even better if they pictured a bent bow in its execution.

"Here's Life and Health to England's King" (Hollingsworth), sung in tribute to King Edward VIII, had the right spirit. The second tenors in obligato, at "May peace and plenty" and the bass part at the finish, "Drive back the foe," were quite effective.

De Koven's beautiful setting, in "Recessional," sung as a tribute to the memory of the late Rudyard Kipling, the Somerset folksong, "O, No John," arranged by Thiman, and the yielding, imaginative music of Max Bruch's "Fritliof" (scene VI), solo baritone A. Jackman made a fitting conclusion, splendidly attained and much applauded.

TWO SOLOISTS

Assisting soloists were Dr. T. Harry Johns, baritone, and Marie Louise Vowles, a very promising young violinist, and winner at the 1936 festival of The Victoria Daily Times Challenge Cup for junior strings.

Dr. Johns has already proved himself one of Victoria's best concert singers, and whatever he undertakes there lies behind it a thorough understanding of vocal art.

He sang two groups, (a) Schumann's ever popular "Dedication," from the "Myrthen" group, a trifle accelerated perhaps, (b) Schubert's wonderful music, "Omnipotence," the Jehovah climax being splendidly projected, and the three numbers of his second group, (a) Huhn's "Invictus," (b) "Sunrise and Sunset" by Spross and (c) Cox's "Aspiration," and delivered with refreshing sincerity, good diction, and an appeal of round, rich voice, prolonged applause greeting every number.

Marie Vowles, too, won complete success, and well earned the enthusiastic applause and recall following her clever playing of Manhire's "Meditation," and "Mandolinata" by Franz. She has natural talent, is a student who apparently works, and should in the years to come carve for herself a niche in violinistic art.

Mrs. Clifford Warn, the club's accompanist, presided at the piano in able, supporting manner, and was presented with a handsome bouquet.

WHITE COLLAR GIRLS AS TRAINED HOME WORKERS

By MARY MARGARET McBRIDE

The newest best seller in the book world has no illustrations and no striking jacket cover. It also has a title that would never pass muster with the smart promotion department of a publishing house, being over long and unimaginative.

"Training for Household Service Occupations in the Home" the book is called and the author is Helen Livingstone, who for the past two years has been running a laboratory for the Girls' Service League of America in which white collar girl workers, tired of being jobless, have been turned into successful domestics.

HAPHAZARD WORK OVER

"The day of the haphazard, carelessly trained household worker is over nearly so," Miss Livingstone declares. "The economic crisis has brought about the change. A few years ago girls without education or training in household problems went into domestic service. Today, women of education and training are turning to the field because in a period of employment scarcity they know that it offers them a comfortable home and an assured income."

All the students in the Girls' Service League classes have completed grammar school and many are high school graduates. A number have had commercial training too. They have a scientific approach to their tasks. They learn that there should be orderly progression in domestic duties, that there is a scientific method even of peeling potatoes.

BASED ON ENGLISH PLAN

Two minds with but a single thought were responsible for the inauguration of the experiment in training household workers on an industrial basis. Mrs. Alexander M. Hadden, president of the Girls' Service League, came back from England where she had seen a similar experiment conducted. She wanted to start it in this country.

Miss Livingstone at that very moment was eager to open classes in household service, but she had no place to hold them. She and Mrs. Hadden met and the classes began. At first only girls who had lived at the clubhouse were pupils, seventeen and eighteen-year-olds who had had no previous business training or domestic experience. Then the experiment was enlarged and the training became strictly professional. There was instruction in everything from dishwashing to the proper attitude toward an employer or toward a child in the employer's home.

EMPLOYERS' SCHOOL NEXT

As time went on, inquiries reached the Girls' Service League from all over the country and from Canada, Cuba and the West Indies. That was how Miss Livingstone's book happened to be a best seller from the moment of its appearance. Orders poured in even by telegraph from communities that were anxious to solve their unemployment problem by this new method.

For the method works. The girls get jobs and keep them, Miss Livingstone says.

"We have met with only one drawback," she adds. "We can train household workers to professional competency and a professional attitude toward their jobs. But we have not figured out quite how to train home-makers so that they can direct these workers efficiently and get the best use from their services.

"If we should have a school for employers next, we might solve the household problem in no time."

COLLEGE GIRLS RANK MEN FIRST

Annual Poll Indicates Males Most Important; Fun Second Choice

New York, April 30.—Men are the most important single item in the minds of the Barnard College seniors, according to the annual poll conducted by the Barnard College Quarterly. Their second choice was fun, followed by literature, social problems, material success and music.

The seniors rated Benito Mussolini as the most important man since 1918. Adolph Hitler second and President Roosevelt and Lenin third. Trailing behind these men was Mickey Mouse.

The students answered the questionnaire, according to The Quarterly, with a mixture of levity and seriousness.

In planning their future, they decided they would become wives and mothers or business women or continue with their education.

ALL CONDEMN WAR

War was condemned by every senior who voted and there were stout margins against Fascism and William Randolph Hearst, the poll showed.

"By a large majority," The Quarterly continued, The New York Times was voted the favorite newspaper, with The Herald Tribune second Third place went to The World-Telegram, while The Daily Worker was engaged typically in a struggle with Hearst's American at the bottom of the list."

Twenty-eight seniors were indifferent about marrying a Columbia man. Twenty-four said they would and eight would not.

Evidences of the traditional Barnard-Columbia feud, The Quarterly added, were voiced in the following remarks written by the seniors: "Are there really men at Columbia?" "Are Columbia men the marrying kind?"

Among the favorite plays of the class were "Children's Hour" and "Romeo and Juliet." The Pulitzer Prize play, "The Old Maid," was not listed among the leaders.

BEETHOVEN IS FAVORITE

In the field of music Beethoven ranked as the favorite composer, followed by Wagner, Brahms, Stravinsky and Jerome Kern. Most of the seniors refused to specify their favorite "popular music."

Miss Georgiana Remer of New York was voted the most popular and cleverest member of the class. Miss Sara Bright of Norristown, Pa., was chosen as the most likely to succeed and Miss Marjorie Wright was named the "most intelligent."

DAY'S ACTIVITY BEST BREAKFASTING GUIDE
DISHES FOR LIGHT EATERS IN HEAVY MENU

By MARY E. DAGUE

Not a day goes by that somebody does not ask questions about breakfast. As you know, breakfasts are divided into three types: The light, medium and heavy.

The very light breakfast consists of fruit, some sort of breadstuff such as rolls or toast, and a beverage—milk, cocoa or coffee. This type of meal is suitable for adults whose habits are sedentary and who eat adequate noon meals. The person who omits luncheon should eat a heartier breakfast, however, because the very light type of meal provides too little fuel to take one through the day.

The light breakfast adds cereal to the very light menu. This meal is a convenient type to serve because it provides the essentials of the children's breakfast and takes care of adults who are moderately active physically.

ONE MENU FOR ALL

The medium breakfast consists of fruit, cereal, eggs or their equivalent, breadstuff and beverage. School children, adults who are active physically and those who take very little luncheon at noontime require this type of morning meal.

The heavy breakfast adds an extra hot dish to the medium-breakfast menu. Persons who are engaged in strenuous muscular work and those whose total food requirements for the day are high need this type of meal.

With these various types of meals in mind, it is quite simple to plan one breakfast menu which will meet the needs of all the members of a family, no matter how diversified their interests may be. The inactive persons can refuse the extra dishes and limit themselves to the light or medium breakfast, the heavy type being unsuited for their needs.

The child's breakfast should furnish every necessary element for proper nourishment. In the morning, his stomach has been without food for the longest period of his twenty-four hours and he is ready for a meal which will supply food for growth as well as energy. An active child uses up a vast amount of both nervous and muscular energy during the day. Fruit or fruit juices, hot or cold cereal with cream if possible, milk or a glass of cocoa made with milk, toast and a soft-Cooked Egg—there is a well-balanced breakfast for a growing child.

Baked eggs are easy to make and the dish is handy to serve, since it goes straight from the oven to the table, keeping hot for tardy members.

BAKED EGGS

Butter a baking dish and carefully put as many eggs as needed into it. Sprinkle with salt and pepper and dot with bits of butter. Add enough cream to almost cover eggs. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) until eggs are set, about twenty minutes. Baste occasionally with cream in the pan. Serve at the table from the baking dish onto hot buttered toast.

Slickers Work New Easy Graft

New York, April 30.—Some city slickers are working a mean swindle on people around here. One of these grafters will get to talking with anybody he can find, and will say he is a press agent for several Broadway shows. "Tell me which one you want to see, and I'll give you passes," he tells the sucker. Then he pulls out a pad of printed forms marked "Pass," and fills in the blanks. "These are for two $3.30 tickets, but you'll have to pay me the sixty-cent tax," he says. Of course, the passes turn out to be worthless, but the slicker has the sixty cents.

HEALTH CENTRE WORK PRAISED

Cowichan Group Pays Tribute to Mrs. M. Moss, O.B.E.; Fine Reports

Duncan, April 30.—Mrs. Margaret Moss, O.B.E., one of the founders and for fifteen years president of the Cowichan Health Centre, who is now making her home in Scotland, was paid a warm tribute at the sixteenth annual meeting of the centre, held at the I.O.O.F. Hall, Tuesday afternoon.

Mayor Greig moved and Reeve Tisdall seconded the resolution of appreciation and thanks to Mrs. Moss, a copy of which will be sent to her at her home in Scotland.

WORK EXTENDED

Mrs. H. Graham, the president, was in the chair, with Miss Geraldine Homfray, the superintendent, who presented encouraging reports. Reference was made to the extension of the work of Kapoor, Mayo, Hillcrest, Fairbridge Farm School, and the placing of a full-time nurse at Lake Cowichan to serve the foot of the lake, Youbou and Camp Six. Dr. G. W. Bissett spoke briefly on the control of tuberculosis with relation to Cowichan district.

Mr. Ben Drew of the Columbia Coast Mission paid tribute to the nurses of the Health Centre, and very briefly outlined the work being done by the mission boat. Hugh Savage, M.P.P., and E. W. Neel, president of the British Columbia Hospitals' Association, gave brief addresses and Miss Homfray gave a talk on "Advertising Public Health," and outlined a plan for a civic health week.

Dr. E. H. Young, provincial health officer, who was present with Mrs. Young, congratulated the centre on its splendid work. Health work in British Columbia stood as a model for North America and British Columbia nurses had attained a very high standing. He was against regimentation, and any advances in health legislation should be founded on approval of the people. Changes should be democratic, not bureaucratic.

Dr. A. M. Menzies of the Provincial Board of Health also spoke commendingly of the centre's work.

OFFICERS CHOSEN

Election of officers resulted as follows: President, Mrs. H. Graham; first vice-president, Mrs. George Owens; second vice-president, Mrs. H. P. Prevost; treasurer, Mrs. T. Pitt; secretary, Mrs. T. C. Robson; assistant secretary, Mrs. Hugh Savage. A resolution of appreciation of the services of Mrs. T. C. Robson as secretary over a period of twelve years was unanimously adopted.

Committee representatives elected included Mrs. H. Graham, Mrs. H. P. Prevost, Mrs. R. C. McGregor, Mrs. T. Pitt and Mrs. F. G. Christias, from the city of Duncan; Miss N. C. Foster, Miss M. E. Wilson, Mrs. H. B. Hayard, Mrs. Hugh Savage and Mrs. T. C. Robson, from North Cowichan; Mrs. George Owens, Mrs. B. A. McMillan, Mrs. C. Wace, Mrs. Kinlock and Mrs. Archie Sherman, from South Cowichan.

Last year's general committee was re-elected, with the addition of Mrs. H. Charter and Mrs. C. Compton-Lundie.

BRIDESMAIDS AT GOLDEN WEDDING

Canadian Press Cable

London, April 30.—Five of the seven bridesmaids at the wedding of Tresham Gilbey, well known in business and sport circles fifty years ago, attended the golden wedding celebrations today.

Also present was Sir Walter Gilbey, elder brother of Tresham Gilbey and an even more famous sportsman.

To the town of Bishops Stortford, Essex, where he lives, Tresham Gilbey gave cricket and tennis grounds, while his wife gave the town a large swimming pool.

TOSCANINI IN U.S. FAREWELL

Carnegie Hall Filled for Conductor's Last Concert

New York, April 30.—The eleven crowded years Arturo Toscanini directed the New York Philharmonic-Symphony Society as its principal conductor were at an end today, climaxed by yesterday evening's tumultous concert of Beethoven and Wagner music in Carnegie Hall.

It was his farewell to the United States as a conductor, but not a finale on the podium for the still vigorous sixty-nine-year-old master.

He sails Saturday for Paris, with concerts there, in Salzburg, in Palestine and possibly in Egypt during the remainder of this year.

A distinguished audience filled Carnegie Hall and stood in their seats at the end, clamoring for more after the maestro had led a devoted, intent orchestra through the swirling Valkyries' ride of the Wagner music.

At Toscanini's wish the $23,750 proceeds from the concert went to the orchestra, doormen, ushers and staff personnel, and the pension funds of the Carnegie Hall and Symphony Society.

V.O.N. SERVICE LITTLE KNOWN

Public Unaware of Many Facilities Offered, Dominion Board Told

Canadian Press

Ottawa, April 30.—Services made available to the community by the Victorian Order of Nurses should be better understood by medical groups and the ordinary layman, Alma C. Haupt, director of the nursing bureau, Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, yesterday told delegates to the thirty-eighth annual meeting of the board of governors of the V.O.N.

Dr. G. J. Wherrett, executive secretary of the Canadian Tuberculosis Association, spoke at the morning session.

"The big thing ahead of us is the co-operation of government and private health agencies," Miss Haupt said.

Dr. Wherrett spoke on "Present Objectives in the Tuberculosis Campaign," mentioning advances in the past five years and stating that it is now possible to speak with authority as to its control and the methods to be adopted for its eradication.

Proposes Jail Terms For Drunken Drivers

Canadian Press

Ottawa, April 30.—A jail term of not less than thirty days on conviction the first time of driving a motor car while under the influence of alcohol or a narcotic is proposed in a bill sponsored by T. L. Church, Conservative member of the House of Commons for Toronto-Broadview.

The bill is designed to amend the Criminal Code with the idea of increasing penalties for careless driving of motor cars. One section declares persons guilty of speeding, racing or cutting-in may be subject to one year's imprisonment or a $200 fine, or both.

'SALADA' TEA is delicious

Gorgeous

BY LAURA LOU BROOKMAN © 1936 NEA Service, Inc.

"Are they all yours?" Toby exclaimed. "All these dresses?"

Harriet stepped into the closet, emerged with a white dress over her arm. "Yes," she said. "You'll find you have to have a lot of clothes if you do much modeling. Of course, lots of these are old. You can't tell when an old dress is going to come in handy, so I never throw anything away. And I manage to pick up quite a few bargains. If you know how to mend and clean things that are a little shop worn, you can do that. The best-looking clothes I have are from fashion shows. After dresses have been worn in a show they usually let the models buy them for half price. That's how I got this white one—regular $39.50 and it cost me $19.75." She held the dress up before her. "What d'you think of it?"

"It's beautiful! But do you think it will fit me?"

Off came Toby's own dress, and over her head went the soft folds of satin. Harriet snapped the fasteners, stepped back and eyed the other girl critically. "Well," she said, "you can see for yourself. There's a mirror—"

Toby moved to the mirror, stared at the image reflected. "Oh—!" she said, and then again, "Oh!" She couldn't believe, for an instant, that the girl in the mirror was herself. The gleaming white satin molded her figure in a manner that was witchery—alluring, demure. It was a dream dress, a dress to make dreams come true. Never, in her wildest imaginings, had Toby Ryan supposed she could look like this.

Harriet said softly, "I'll have to sell it to you, Toby. After seeing you in that dress I'd never have the nerve to wear it again myself. It was made for you! Of course, it will have to be turned up about an inch, but that's easy. Wait, I'll get the slippers—"

An hour later, Toby departed, carrying the borrowed evening dress and slippers in a pasteboard box. One hand on the door, she halted. Toby said earnestly, "I'll never forget what you've done for me."

"Well," said the other girl, "if that's true it'll be a record—in this town. But I'm glad we happened to meet this morning, Toby. There's something about you—I don't know what it is—but I think we're going to be friends."

"I hope so!"

Toby said good-bye then and hurried down the stairs. She had twenty minutes to reach the studio and Harriet had told her it was important, never, under any circumstances, to be late.

She worked until midnight that night and earned $17.50. Two days later she spent a morning posing as a housewife making a bed. In the afternoon she stood for three hours while a photographer made picture after picture of her feet, clad in smart footwear. At the end of the week Toby's earnings had mounted to $46.30 — more than three times what she had earned at Bergman's.

She paid part of her registration fee at the Models' League, bought herself a pair of black pumps and paid Harriet Holm ten dollars of the fifteen they had agreed upon as the price for the white satin dress. She still had more than her old salary left.

It was almost, Toby told herself, as though she had stepped into a new world. She felt that she had been going about with her eyes closed. There were so many new things in this strange world—new people, new places, new things to do and to think about. She met other models, photographers, artists, advertising salesmen, art directors. She caught glimmerings of the workings of that most complicated of modern businesses, advertising.

It was all absorbing, exciting. Toby worked hard and enjoyed it. Her eyes sparkled more gaily; her smile was brighter. Each morning she woke, eager to see what the day would bring. At night she dropped into bed, tired but content in the knowledge of a day's work done.

And then—just when Toby felt that she had never been so happy—something happened that changed everything.

CHAPTER XIII

It was one of those deceptive March days when brilliant sunshine and a clear blue sky called the unsuspecting out of doors—to face, not balmy breezes but a snapping wintry wind.

Toby Ryan walked briskly, clinging to the narrow brim of her hat, which looked as though, at any moment, it might dance away. Toby had been calling at studios, making the rounds as new models are advised to do in the hope of future calls for work. The last call had taken longer than she had expected and now Toby was in a hurry. In twenty minutes she was due at a studio on lower Madison.

She reached the intersection, saw a bus on the opposite side of the street, headed down town. Toby ran for it, climbed on board just as the doors were about to bang shut.

She dropped her fare into the coin box and slipped into the nearest seat with a sigh of relief.

The pictures Toby was to pose for were for a company that made hats—not expensive, one-of-a-kind hats to be sold in exclusive shops, but the sort displayed in department stores with $3.49 and $4.98 price tags. It wasn't likely it would take more than an hour or so—

Toby turned. It was a moment—a long moment—before she recognized the young man beside her. His top coat was rough tweed and his hat was a grey felt. Toby said, knowing very well that she should not have said it, "Oh—hello."

"You don't know what a shock this is," the young man went on. Meeting you again. Just like this. Why, I've looked everywhere for you—actually everywhere—"

Your Baby's Health

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN

A woman who is going to have a child must eat not only for herself, but also for the baby.

The child depends on its mother for its food supply, which comes to the baby through the blood vessels which connect it to the mother.

Dr. M. Fishbein

The food substances going to the baby are, for the most part governed by the food the mother takes. If her food supply lacks substances that the child requires, these substances will be extracted from the tissues and organs of the mother to her considerable detriment.

There used to be an idea that a mother had to lose a tooth for every child that was born to her. It was a well-established fact that the mother's teeth would become loose and decay during that perior previous to childbirth.

Now we know that, if the mother eats enough calcium and phosphorus and gets enough vitamin D during this period, her tissues need not be compelled to give up these elements to supply the child.

This does not mean, of course, that she ought to overeat. Overeating would throw an excess burden on her digestive organs and certainly her body is not in any condition to undergo excess of any kind.

There is some slight increase of weight of the mother, which is normal during this period, but any abnormal increase in weight will have a bad effect. At the same time, the prospective mother need not think that she can keep down the weight of the baby by starving herself. The baby's weight is not dependent entirely on the amount of food its mother eats.

All the food during this period should be well chewed to aid digestion, exactly as it should be well chewed at any other time. Indeed, a good general rule for the prospective mother is to eat the same foods that she usually eats, but to make certain that she gets plenty of milk, and more fresh fruits and vegetables than she would take ordinarily.

She should watch particularly her supply of vitamins and such salts as calcium, phosphorus, iron, and iodine. She ought to have eight to ten glasses of water a day, unless her amounts of fluid are restricted by her doctor for some special reason

The necessary proteins will be supplied by meat, eggs, milk, and such vegetables as peas and beans. The fats are important, particularly butter, cream, and cheese, because they provide vitamin A. The carbohydrates and starches, including bread, potatoes, and cereals, are needed to provide calories which take care of the mother's demands for extra energy.

Besides getting a rich supply of vitamins A, B and C from fresh vegetables and fruits, particularly citrus fruits and tomatoes, the prospective mother may require extra cod liver oil or halibut liver oil, or perhaps viosterol, as prescribed by her doctor, to be certain of vitamin D.

Your Baby And Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

WARM, NOT SMOTHERING, WRAPS ARE REQUIRED FOR BABY'S AIRING

"How old must baby be before he can be taken out for an airing?" "Must his face be covered?" The repetition of these same questions from young mothers indicates how eager and how timid they are about exposing their babies to fresh air.

Ordinarily the baby is from four to six weeks of age before a mother begins those daily, leisurely perambulations up and down the street with baby wrapped snugly and warmly in his carriage. Even these daily airings may not be in order if the temperature is low, the weather raw or blustery or rainy

OPEN THE WINDOWS

Baby can then take his airing in a room with two windows open so that there is a brisk circulation of air. Baby can be wrapped as if for a street airing and then take his long nap in such a well aired room, doing him exactly as much good as if his mother walked him about for an hour or more.

Our leaflet, "Airing the Baby at All Seasons," offers more advice and may be had for a self-addressed and three-cent stamped envelope sent to Myrtle Meyer Eldred, care of the Your Baby and Mine Department of this newspaper.

LET HIM HAVE AIR!

Only in very old books on baby care do we ever run across the warning to put a veil on baby. Such practices belong to the era when air was considered something from which to protect the baby. Now we use every artifice to give baby the benefit of all the good, fresh air there is to be had. To cover baby's face gives him the dubious privilege of breathing his own breath, obviously a foolish procedure, if what we take him outdoors to get is fresh air.

He should be dressed sensibly for his airing, not loaded down with covers so that he grows to hate the imprisonment of heavy, circulation-impeding clothes. Let the mother imagine herself out in this particular weather, and the amount of clothes she puts on baby should be just the amount in which she herself would be comfortable if identically situated.

RADIO VISTS TO WASHINGTON

Highlighted microphone trips to the capital of the United States—including visits to the White House and other points of interest—will be brought to radio listeners every Friday in May, from 7.30 to 8 a.m., P.S.T., over the NBC blue network, including KJR, Seattle.

On the first programme, tomorrow, May 1, dramatic sketches will show how the city was planned by George Washington and Pierre l'Enfant, and how the Washington Monument was built. An old elevator operator will tell some of his experiences while the listener rides to the top of the monument to get a bird's-eye view of the city.

On the May 8 programme, listeners will hear how John Hoban, young Irish architect, drew the plans for the White House. Then the audience will be taken on a microphone tour through the executive mansion. White House servants and officials will describe incidents which the public ordinarily never sees.

The third programme, May 15, will take listeners through the Capitol building itself, with its history told in dramatic sketches. Capitol attaches will tell intimate stories about the lawmakers.

May 22 will be "children's day." The headkeeper of the National Zoo will face the NBC blue network microphone to tell about his furred and feathered charges.

The final "Washington trip" in the series, on May 29, will come from the famous Library of Congress, now largest in the world, which was started with an ox-cart load of books belonging to Thomas Jefferson. Descriptions of the smallest book in the world and of America's first arithmetic, printed by twelve-year-old Benjamin Franklin, will be among the features.

HYMN CONTEST FOR MUSICIANS

Victorians Invited to Write Music For Vancouver Jubilee Hymn

Composers of hymn tunes in Victoria are invited to submit music for the words of the following hymn of thanksgiving chosen for Vancouver's Golden Jubilee:

Almighty God we come today,
Thy Father-love confessing;
The Love that compasseth our way
With Thy eternal blessing.
With happy thankful hearts we raise
Our song of jubilation,
Acknowledging with prayer and praise
Thy infinite salvation.

For fifty years by day and night
Thy guidance has directed.
For fifty years through dark and light
Thy power has protected.
The mountains round about us thrown,
The ocean's ancient chorus,
Join in our anthem as we own
Thy benediction o'er us.

Thou givest gladness, givest mirth,
Thou givest joy of living;
The boundless beauty of the earth
Thou art forever giving.
O Providence that fills all space
Beyond our farthest voicing,
Crown with the splendor of Thy grace
Our season of rejoicing.

Thy special blessings, Lord of all,
We ask in faith, believing.
Thou hearest when Thy children call
And give for their receiving.
Bestow upon our city fair
Thy bountiful enfolding.
That we may know and find Thee there,
Through all the years upholding.

BLANCHE E. HOLT MURISON.

A committee, consisting of John Borthwick, Frederick Chubb, Arnold Howard, F. W. Robinson, Evan Walters and J. C. Welch, will make a final selection and the winning tune will be performed by a chorus and orchestra of 1,500 at the Jubilee Festival of Thanksgiving at the Forum on June 28, and at churches during the summer.

Music should be written in four-part harmony with or without free accompaniment. Competitors must submit their manuscripts by May 24, to Dr. Willard Brewing, at St. Andrew's-Wesley Church, Vancouver. Only a nom de plume shall appear on the manuscript. The competitor's name shall be enclosed in a sealed envelope with the nom de plume written on the face of the envelope. A prize of $10 will be awarded to the winner. Competitors are limited to three manuscripts.

For further particulars, apply to J. C. Welch, 615 Pender Street, W. Vancouver.

B.C. INSURANCE FIGURES GIVEN

Store owners and other building proprietors in British Columbia last year paid out $53,219 in insurance premiums to protect their plate-glass windows and received back $27,217 to compensate for losses.

These figures are given in the preliminary annual returns of the British Columbia superintendent of insurance, H. G. Garrett, made public today.

Losses on theft insurance amounted to $81,422, a drop of nearly $34,000 from 1934. The premiums paid for this protection amounted to $182,966, a decrease of $3,000.

Premiums paid on sickness insurance in the province were $164,244 and in return $107,978 was paid out in claims. There was a reduction of $35,000 in the amount of premiums but claims paid jumped by $21,000 from the previous year.

Accident insurance amounted to the substantial total of $413,404 in premiums with losses at $230,218.

Losses on marine insurance ran up to $644,735, compared with $512,742 in 1934, and the premiums collected were $745,471 against $729,229.

Little weather and hail insurance was written. The premiums for weather insurance were $904 and losses $105. For hail insurance the premiums were $3,821 and losses $1,927.

Out of $31,378 paid in property damage insurance premiums $2,376 was paid in losses.

PAY INCREASE FOR POLICE CHIEF

Canadian Press

Vancouver, April 30. — The police commission has recommended to the Vancouver city council that the salary of Chief of Police W. W. Foster be increased to $6,500 a year, less pay cuts, which would make it a net salary of $5,338.63. The recommendation would make the increased salary effective from the beginning of the present year. Last year the chief received a net salary of $4,232.16.

LAND ACQUIRED FOR APPROACHES

With the exception of one or two properties, all the ground sites required for approaches to the new Fraser River bridge at New Westminster have now been acquired by the provincial government, Hon. F. M. MacPherson, Minister of Public Works, said today.

Negotiations are now proceeding for the rest of the necessary ground. The total cost of the land for approaches is expected to run something over $100,000.

Engineers will shortly make tests of a new form of lighting for the bridge which will be seen through fog and haze, Mr. MacPherson said.

MARTIAL MASK-ERADE

Only a vague resemblance to human beings is afforded by the weird column pictured on parade in Kiev, Russia, but it is a spectacle that might become commonplace in event of war. Residents of Kiev donned their mustard-gas-proof suits and gas masks to march in the celebration of the ninth assemblage of the Young Communist League.

THREE SENTENCED FOR THREE YEARS

Canadian Press

Vancouver, April 30.—Wilfred L. Greenaway, twenty-seven; Albert Gammon, thirty-one, and Fred W Roberts, thirty-three, yesterday were found guilty by Judge J. N. Ellis in County Court of attempting to break and enter a branch of the Royal Bank of Canada, and each was sentenced to three years' imprisonment.

While searching a vacant store a short distance from the bank police officers discovered a tunnel had been made from underneath the store, leading in the direction of the bank vault.

A trap was laid in the vacant premises and Gammon captured. The other two were arrested later in a downtowa rooming house.

YOUR CHILDREN

FIBBING TAUGHT IN HOME

Parents often train their children to be quite excellent fibbers, although they sincerely believe they are inculcating standards of honesty in Dick and Betty's minds.

"Think of George Washington," they will remind them. "He never told a lie. You should do likewise."

"Oh, yeah?" the children probably would retort if they were interested enough to take definite action

Take Dick, for example. He was an honest little boy, by nature. When he snapped a rubber band in school, or put a hop-toad in somebody's desk, he admitted it. That is, he did at first. His mother taught him the foolishness of accepting responsibility when he could evade it.

"Dick, the telephone is ringing. Will you answer it, please, and if anyone wants me say that I'm not here. Unless it is someone I want to talk to, of course. I'll give you a sign," she would say.

"No, my mother isn't here," Dick often told the caller. "No, she didn't say when she would be back."

ANOTHER USE FOR PREVARICATION

There was the matter of the grocery store, too.

"I need some bread and eggs and I can't pay for them. That hat I bought today took the market money," she said another time. "Dick, you go to the store. The grocer couldn't refuse a child. Just tell him I had a bill that I didn't want to send with you, and I'll come in and pay in the morning."

Feeling a little embarrassed, just as though the grocer could see into his mind and knew that there wasn't a bill anywhere, Dick performed the errand.

"I paid ten dollars for this hat. Isn't it lovely?" Dick heard his mother tell his father one evening. He opened his mouth to explain that the hat had cost fifteen dollars. He knew, he had been along when his mother bought it. Then he didn't say anything. Maybe his mother wanted his father to think it had not cost that much.

APPLYING THE LESSONS

A few days later Dick whistled under his teeth in school, a new trick he had just learned.

"Who did that?" the teacher asked. "Whoever is guilty must stay away from the school picnic. Now speak up."

Dick ordinarily, would have confessed. Today he kept still. There was a way of avoiding unpleasantness, a way that didn't hurt anybody really. All you had to do was tell a lib.

A few years later Dick's grandmother shook her head over her grandson's streak of prevarication.

"It's strange," she said to her daughter. "He always was such an honest little boy."

"I've worried and worried about it," her daughter said, never suspecting that she had planted Dick's square-toed boots firmly in the path of deception.

Victoria Dominoes Drop Opening Cage Clash to Windsor Fords

Miserable Shooting and Procession of Fouls Are Ruinous to Local Stars

THE SPORTS MIRROR

BACK at the desk after seventeen days spent mostly on the Canadian prairies one realizes just what it means to live in Victoria. After traveling from Vancouver to Winnipeg with various stops en route, your correspondent failed to find one district or city he would think of going to, to take up residence in preference to the capital of this province. Halting at Raymond, Alta., with the Dominoes party, one was reminded of that saying "the country God created and then forgot about." Even the hospitality of the Mormons could not make up for the atmosphere and lack of conveniences of this alkali-filled country. Next stop of any consequence was at Winnipeg and the Manitoba capital, although its citizens are of the most friendly nature, certainly offers nothing to entice one away from the Pacific Coast. Its climate alone is enough to make a British Columbia native scurry back home. Calgary offered some nice weather en route east, but on the way home it greeted one with a nice fall of snow. And that was on April 27.

With the western Canada basketball play-offs history, we have gone statistical again, and the figures are interesting. Scoring honors for the Dominoes for the two series at Raymond and Winnipeg, are divided between Art Chapman, classy centre, and Porky Andrews, bustling forward, with thirty-eight points apiece. Chapman's scoring record for the five games, given in the order of the engagements, follows: 8-11-12-2-5. Andrews's list follows: 9-9-6-9-5. Doug Peden, running guard of the club who was tops at the end of the Raymond games, finished third with thirty-five points. His list of scores follows: 7-13-5-2-8. Red Martin placed fourth with twenty-seven points, made up as follows: 1-11-6-3-6.

Curt Denenny, elusive centre of the Toilers, was high man for them in the three games, with twenty-four points. He got eleven in the first game, eight in the second and five in the third. Joe Perpich was second with 7-2-10-19. Bud Marquardt, who started off so hot in the first game with ten points, failed miserably in the next two, getting two points in the second engagement and only a single counter in the third.

In the three games the Toilers outscored the Dominoes in field goals, thirty-nine to thirty-two. The decisive 42 to 29 beating handed the Victoria club in the opening clash was responsible for the big difference in this department. In free shots the Dominoes outscored their Manitoba opponents 25 to 14. In personal fouls the Dominoes had twenty-nine called against them, as compared to thirty-four against the Toilers.

While in Winnipeg the writer learned that the senior clubs of that city suffer from the same handicap as the Dominoes—lack of a suitable gym in which to stage their season's fixtures. The Manitoba clubs play their league games at the Y.M.C.A. gym, which can only seat about 600 taxed to the limit. When the time for the Canadian play-downs rolls around the Winnipeg champions have to take their games to another floor, and even though they offer plenty of accommodation the fans just do not turn out in the manner they should for a city with a population of approximately 225,000. The general public do not have a chance to become basketball minded during the winter and they cannot be attracted in great numbers to the play-offs.

Just noticed some comment by Dick Matthews in his regular column in The Lethbridge Herald. It is amusing inasmuch as he was very dubious about the Dominoes defeating the Toilers after the Raymond series. His remarks follow:

"Looks as though Victoria Dominoes have got a little too much in the pinches for any of the current opposition. . . The British Columbians play their best basketball with their backs to the wall and with an "or else" threat hanging over their heads. . . This trait is one of the characteristics of championship aggregations and Dominoes seem to have it in sufficient quantities to get past anything that lies between them and their second successive Canadian title. . . Their most recent conquest—the elimination of Winnipeg Toilers—must have convinced even the most skeptical that they have something on that grapefruit . . . Unless Windsor Fords, eastern Canada titleholders have been greatly under-estimated, Dominoes have but one more upward step to take before again standing within the Dominion basketball throne-room."

Victorians Miss Fourteen of Twenty-two Foul Shots in 47 to 36 Defeat As Canadian Final Gets Under Way; Toots Meretsky Leads Home Club With Sixteen Points

Three Locals Go Off on Personals

By VERN DE GEER

Windsor, April 30.—Victoria Dominoes, towering basketball Vikings of the west, bowed to Windsor Fords in the opening round of the 1935-36 Canadian senior championship series here yesterday evening by a score of 47 to 36. It was the first game in a best three-out-of-five playoff to determine the Dominion titleholders and representatives of the Maple Leaf in the basketball demonstration series at the 1936 Olympic Games in Berlin.

A crowd of 1,200 watched the inspired Windsor Fords rush into command early in the first half, shake off a stubborn answering challenge from the visitors in the early stages of the second and go on to win by a superior brand of court generalship and marksmanship.

FOULS DISASTROUS

Personal fouls ate deep into the offensive and defensive system of the long-legged western lads, and ruined a promising drive of the Dominoes in the second period. Doug Peden, burly Victoria guard, was thumbed out of the game soon after the second period opened, with four personal fouls. Chuck Chapman, his big guard partner, joined him on the sidelines a few minutes later. When Chuck retired the Fords were leading by seven points.

With their two regular defence stalwarts out of action the Dominoes were unable to check the methodical quick-breaking attack of the Windsor quintette. Ollie Goldsmith was the third of the visitors to leave the game via the foul route. He was ushered out three minutes before the final gong.

A disheartening series of hoop-rimming shots that refused to go down in the first half increased the load of the talented visitors. Catching the Victoria defence off guard with quick opening plays in the early stages of the first period, Fords fed Toots Meretsky passes under the basket that gave Fords a ten-point margin at one time.

The score at half time was 25 to 18 in favor of the locals. In the second half the Fords outscored Dominoes 22 to 18, largely because of the parade of Peden, Chuck Chapman and Goldsmith to the side lines on personal fouls, and the failure of the invaders to locate the hoop on their own shots from the foul strip. The eleven-point margin of victory for the Fords might have been bridged by Dominoes if their free throw gunning had been more accurate.

POOR SHOOTING

The Dominoes missed fourteen out of twenty-two penalty shots. The Fords sank eleven out of seventeen.

The rangy Dominoes, who offer a brand of basketball that is strange to local court circles, because it features so much long-range shooting in marked contrast to the driving attack of teams in this community, were unable to find themselves on the strange floor yesterday evening.

Time and again their shots fell short of the hoop or skidded off the side of the backboards. They muffed a dozen fine scoring chances under the basket. For example the rangy

PLAY BY PLAY

Windsor, Ont., April 30.—A play-by-play description of yesterday evening's game in the Canadian basketball final between the Victoria Dominoes and Windsor Fords follows:

FIRST HALF

After a minute of preliminary skirmishing, Jimmy Stewart of Windsor, dropped the first field goal from just inside centre court. Fords stalled with continued passing and the westerners shot from far out. They missed three from mid-floor.

Julius Goldman fouled Doug Peden as the western guard was about to shoot, but Peden missed both foul awards. Art Chapman tied the score with a neat side shot from fifteen feet out. Fords didn't take long to get that back as Toots Meretsky sank the rebound of Stewart's long shot.

Meretsky missed a free throw after being fouled by Chuck Chapman. Peden fouled Stewart and the Windsor forward made the first shot and missed the second. Martin was fouled by Dawson, but missed his throw.

Meretsky got his third basket on a pass from Goldman, then Andrews made one for Victoria. Goldman and Meretsky combined nicely, with Meretsky ending two rushes with baskets. Ed Dawson made it 13 to 6 in favor of Fords witha one-hand shot from the corner.

Goldman made a neat left-handed shot when Art Chapman came back with a field goal for Dominoes. Meretsky dribbled in all the way from centre court and tossed in a field goal over his head.

Goldsmith went in for Porky Andrews and Red Nantais went in for Ed Dawson after twelve minutes.

Goldsmith rushed Goldman and the Ford star made his shot good. Peden was called for charging and Nantais snared his single point.

DOMINOES GET TWO

Windsor took time out, the score standing 19 to 12 for Fords.

Art Chapman missed a foul shot he got after Stewart had charged him. Martin followed it up for a field goal, then Dawson was in for Fords with a long shot from just inside centre.

On a neat backhand pass by Eddie Dawson, Toots Meretsky dropped one in from just inside the sideline. Doug Peden, a moment later, leaped high in the air from an angle fifteen feet out and scored for the west. Allison went in for Stewart. Red Martin made a one-handed cross-cut shot to tally for Dominoes.

Wiseman fouled Chapman, but Chapman missed the try. Meretsky made a neat pass to Ian Allison, who dropped it in from under the basket.

SECOND HALF

Dominoes showed a tighter defence as the second half opened, and for three minutes Fords unsuccessfully passed about in enemy territory until Allison solved things with a long shot.

Peden and Allison fouled each other, but both missed the shots. Red Martin pushed Eddie Dawson. Dawson clicked with the foul shot.

Peden made his fourth foul by pushing Wiseman and was ruled out of the game. He was replaced by McKeachie. Wiseman missed the foul shot and Dominoes carried the play under Fords' basket.

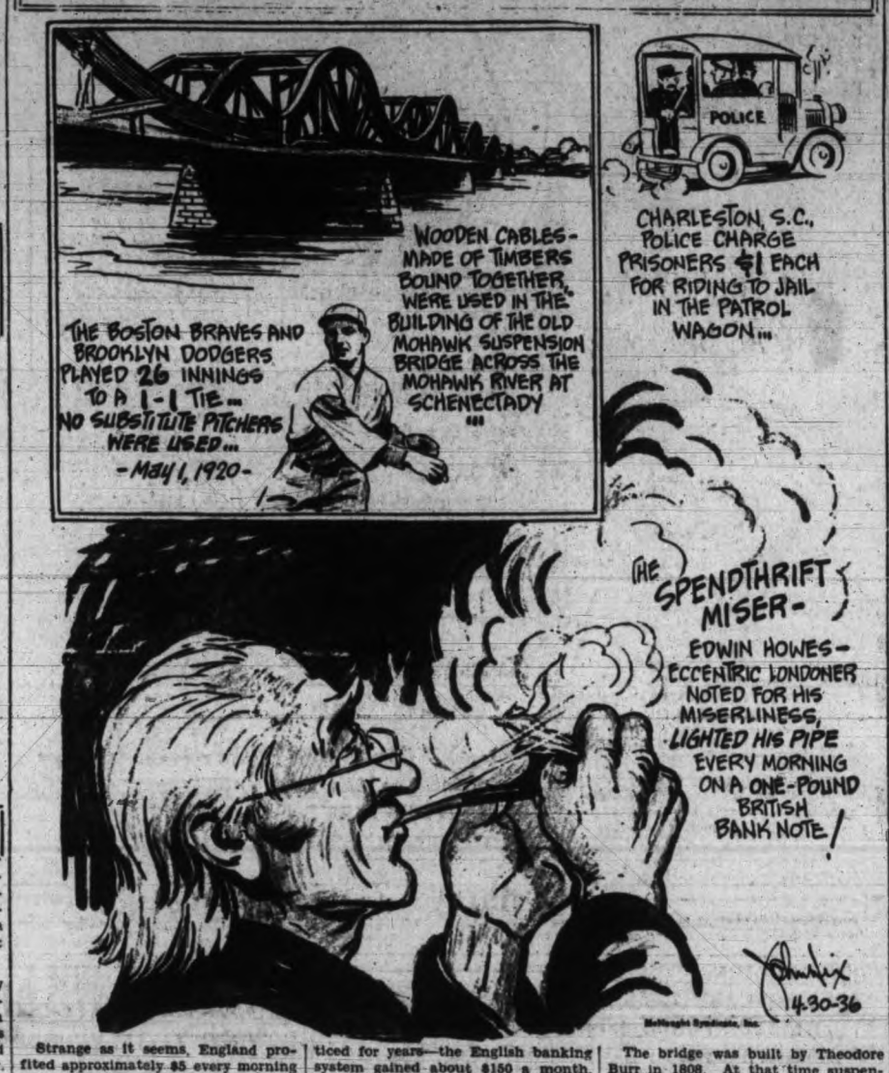
STRANGE AS IT SEEMS —By John Hix



Strange as it seems, England profited approximately $5 every morning when Edwin Thomas Howes lighted his pipe. The eccentric old Londoner who died about a year ago, used a £1 bank note every day with which to light his pipe. This strange quirk of spendthriftiness was in direct contrast with Mr. Howes's other habits of life. In the matter of clothes and food he was noted for his miserliness, and he lived in cheap lodgings.

As long as he lighted his pipe with bank notes—a habit he had practiced for years—the English banking system gained about $150 a month, for every bank note burned meant that the Bank of England had one less note to redeem.

One of the strangest bridges ever built was the old Mohawk Bridge crossing the Mohawk River in Pennsylvania. It was a suspension bridge, but instead of the cables being chain, rope or wire, they were made of planks bound together. It was used for sixty-four years.

The bridge was built by Theodore Burr in 1808. At that time suspension bridges used ropes or iron chains for support as they had for centuries. Burr, however, used two-inch planks of pine, laid so as to overlap and form a continuous support. The wooden cables were three feet wide and four feet deep. At first the piers holding the bridge up were under each arch, but years later additional piers were added at the bottom of each span.

Tomorrow: Baseball vs head hunting.

BOWLING CUPS ARE PRESENTED

Alley Trundlers Enjoy Fine Programme at Season Closing Affair

Approximately forty bowlers attended the closing of a successful season when trundlers of the City Senior and Commercial Tenpin League were present at the Arcade Alleys yesterday evening for the presentation of prizes.

The Colonist bowlers were presented with the Fit-rite Cup, symbolic of the City Senior Tenpin League championship, while the Stage Depot Service Station bowlers skippered by B. H. Woolston annexed the commercial tenpin honors and were presented with the Dr. S. F. Tolmie Cup.

The silverware was presented by Alderman R. Dewar, who has played an active part in the annual trophy presenting for several years. The bowlers were welcomed by Ron Wilson, league president.

A hearty vote of thanks was extended to Charlie Chislet and Art Porter, alley managers, for their work in connection with the closing affair.

Bowling was in full swing during the evening, with all five alleys in use and some fine scores were made in the "pot" games, a popular feature of the wind-up programme.

$40 TOP FOR JUNE FIGHT

Promoter Mike Jacobs Sets High Scale for Recent Time in Announcing Prices for Louis-Schmeling Bout; Expects Gate of $1,500,000

New York, April 30. — Boom times officially returned to the boxing industry yesterday as Mike Jacobs announced a $40 top for the heavyweight bout between Joe Louis and Max Schmeling in the Yankee Stadium June 18.

Not since the lush years of 1923-29 has any promoter dared to boost the ante so high, and no other tickets for a non-championship bout, listed for public sale, ever have carried so expensive a label. So-called "patron press" ducats for Schmeling's tussle with Paulino Uzcudun here in June, 1929, just before the depression struck, were priced at $50, however.

Scaling his prices from $3 to $40, Jacobs predicted the fifteen-round bout between the Detroit destroyer and Schmeling, former holder of the title, would draw a gross gate of $1,500,000.

With the completion of alterations, the stadium will be able to accommodate between 90,000 and 100,000 for boxing, and the Louis-Schmeling match may be a sell-out.

GYM DISPLAY ON TOMORROW

The display programme includes Swedish exercises and gymnastic games, apparatus work, folk dancing, skipping drills, tap dancing with special exhibitions of tap dancing by Frances Borde and Katie Mann.

The display will start at 8 o'clock and continue for two hours. It will be followed by a dance in the ballroom from 10 to midnight. A bus will be available for people returning to town.

KRESGES IN SOCCER WIN

Defeat James Bay Wanderers 5 to 2 in Rennie & Taylor Cup Fixture

Opening up with a strong offensive in the second half, Kresges midweek soccer team yesterday downed James Bay Wanderers 5 to 2 in a Rennie and Taylor Cup fixture featured by two penalty goals from the toe of Joe Travis, Kresge goaltender. The game was played at the Athletic Park.

Unable to field a team, the Recreation Centre defaulted to Spencers in scheduled second half of the double header and the Diamond S boys won an exhibition fixture 15 to 2 against a pick-up team.

Wanderers took the lead fifteen minutes from the start when White completed a sustained attack with a shot to the corner for the opening tally.

Don Newell put the teams on even terms with a hard shot after a neat cross from right wing.

Travis saved a smart shot just before the half ended and the teams resumed play with a goal apiece.

After staving off a good Wanderers' attack as the second half opened, Kresges broke down the field and gained a penalty against Fieldhouse for handling. Travis journeyed up the field for the kick and picked the corner of the net to make the score 2 to 1 for the storemen. Red McMillan and Don Newell scored in quick succession to raise the count to 4 to 1 before Tommy Belford scored a penalty against McKenzie for the Wanderers.

Percy Shrimpton refereed.

Heavy Going For Kentucky Derby

Promise of Muddy Track May Change Odds Before Post Time on Saturday; Experts Still Attempt to Pick Horse to Whip Brevity

By ORLO ROBERTSON

Louisville, Ky., April 30.—If you can thrill to the task of pushing your way through crowded streets and packed hotel lobbies; stand the pang of hunger while waiting seemingly hours for a ham sandwich, or smile as loaded taxicabs fly past with your weary feet crying for a rest—then you belong in Louisville for the sixty-second running of the Kentucky Derby Saturday.

The Derby fever, which annually grips this city, today was spreading like an epidemic as railroads, airplanes and automobiles formed their passengers onto the scene of the great turf classic.

Even the threat of a typical Derby day, with either rain, a heavy track or both, failed to dampen the enthusiasm of the incoming mobs which quickly joined in the festive occasion. Rain, which started falling early yesterday morning, stopped only long enough yesterday evening for the festival parade and then continued.

FORECAST MORE RAIN

The weather man even refused to promise complete co-operation, predicting local showers for the next three days. The prospects for today's racing was at least sloppy going.

Out at the track, far from the happy, jostling throngs, the trainers of the fifteen colts and one filly expected to start in the big race stared at the heavily laden skies. Some looked worried. Others fairly beamed with joy.

R. Emmitt Potts, trainer of Grand Slam, wore one of the biggest smiles, for the Bomar ace moves up many pounds over a heavy track. If the rain continues and the going should be heavy, then in all probability the Detroit-owned colt will go to the post equal choice with J. E. Widener's Brevity.

Little is known of Brevity's mud-running ability. Pete Coyne, the colt's trainer, declared he sees no reason why the heavily played choice should not like an off track. However, he would much rather prove it in some other race.

William Woodward's Granville, a son of Gallant Fox, comes from a mud-running family, as does the Wheatley Stable's Teufel, an offspring of Diavolo, and Morton L. Schwartz's Bold Venture, sired by Twenty Grand's daddy, St. Germans. Of the other leading contenders, Major A. C. Taylor's Indian Broom, the Canadian threat and world record holder at one and one-eighth miles, and the E. R. Bradley pair of Bien Joli and Banister prefer a fast racing strip.

HORSES GET REST

The horses, closely guarded in the Derby barns, took things easy today as horsemen and laymen still stuck to their task of trying to pick a horse to beat Brevity. For the most part, the probably starters were sent out for short, limbering-up gallops this morning. Tomorrow they will be given a final blow-off—their last appearance on the track before going to the post Saturday at about 2.30 o'clock (P.S.T.). The officials announced the first race would be run at 10.30 o'clock (P.S.T.) with the Derby number six on the programme.

Although there was no getting away from the fact that from past performances Brevity is "the horse," several of the other candidates rallied strong support. Grand Slam, which lost many friends when he finished third to He Did and Sangreal in the one mile of "the trial," regained them as the rain continued to fall.

If the going is fast, Bold Venture and the entry of Granville Teufel and Merry Pete, trained by James Fitzsimmons, probably will vie for support as the second choice. Granville especially is liked for the hard-boots can't forget that "Sunny Jim" sent out Gallant Fox to win in 1930 and then came back with a son, Omaha, to take last year's running.

Indian Broom also commands attention due to his world record performance and a workout Tuesday, in which he went a mile in 1.38 3-5. A Bradley horse is always a threat, but following the workouts of Bien Joli and Banister yesterday, the master of Idle Hour Stock Farm declared he liked Brevity.

It is the difference of opinion that makes a horse race, however, and so the Derby.

SOCCER WORKOUT

A workout of the Victoria City first division soccer eleven will be held tonight at the Veterans of France at 7.30 o'clock. All players are asked to be on hand.

EYSTON SETS WORLD MARK

British Auto Driver Pilots Diesel Powered Car 158.87 M.P.H.

Bonneville Salt Flats, Utah, April 30.—Capt. George Eyston, steel-nerved English speedster, established a world mark for Diesel-powered motor cars of 158.87 miles an hour in an unannounced run yesterday.

The speed bettered an unofficial record for the measured mile of 137 miles an hour credited to Bill Cummings for a trial on Daytona Beach, Fla., in March, 1935.

Arthur Pillsbury, A.A.A. official, who timed Eyston's run yesterday, said Cummins was clocked by the Automobile Association, but his mark was not recognized as a record.

TORONTO UP IN ICE PLAY

Defeats Chicago 7 to 2 in Second Game of Series at Vancouver

Vancouver, April 30.—Charles Conacher, Toronto Maple Leafs' hard - shooting right - winger, drove and passed the Leafs into a three-goal lead for the Gyro's Totem Trophy, prize for the winners of a three-game total-goal series between Toronto and Chicago Black Hawks as the Leafs defeated the Hawks 7 to 2 here yesterday evening.

The Hawks won Monday night's game 5 to 3. The teams play here again Friday night. Each club has four wins to date on their western Canada tour.

Bill Thoms's centre-ice checking enabled him to break away from three-men Chicago rushes to work in on the Hawk zone for numerous shots and to lay passes for his wings. He counted a goal and an assist, as did Harvey Jackson and Red Horner.

Hainsworth frustrated many of Hawks' rushes as he came out feet first to throw himself at the sticks of incoming Chicago forwards.

Rink-wide passes from Harvey Jackson to Conacher and vice-versa, for hard shots on goal gave Karakas many uneasy moments in the Hawk net, but he handled most of them without an error.

Brilliant Pitching Features Games In Major Baseball League

Parmelee Takes Spotlight With Extra-frame Win

St. Louis Flinger Allows Giants Only Six Hits in Seventeen Innings

Hank Greenberg Fractures Wrist

When this major league baseball season rolls down to the world series, the experts may point back to yesterday's games in explanation of the final result.

Most significant in a day of extraordinary happenings was Hank Greenberg's collision with young Jake Powell of the Washington Senators, in which the big Detroit first baseman fractured his left wrist.

Outstanding among superlative pitching performances in other games was Leroy Parmelee's seventeen-inning, six-hit, 2 to 1 victory for the St. Louis Cardinals over the New York Ginats. In picking the Cards and the Chicago Cubs to battle it out for this year's National League pennant, the experts have agreed that the success or failure of Parmalee would be the success or failure of the Cards. Yesterday's performance should throw some light on the question.

Though he lost, Carl Hubbell gave the Cards only eleven hits in the seventeen, frames, which is pretty good pitching when the St. Louis crew faces you sixty times in an afternoon.

FINE HURLING

Other pitching performances of the day included Pete Appleton's two-hit7 to 3 victory for Washington over the Tigers. Bill Lee's four-hit, 1 to 0 win over the four-hit pitching of Van Lingle Mungo of the Brooklyn Dodgers, and Lefty Gomez's three-hitter over the Cleveland Indians, which dropped the Tribe from first to third in the American League. The score of this one was 6 to 1.

While so many extraordinary things were stealing the show, Joe Cronin's Boston Red Sox defeated the Chicago White Sox, 8 to 7, and regained first place in the American League.

The only other game in the majors was played by the Phillies and the Pittsburgh Pirates and ended in an anti-climax in the eleventh inning when pitcher Bucky Walter intentionally walked two men to fill the bases, and in the process got into the habit of throwing wild and hit Gus Suhr, Pirate's first baseman, forcing in the winning run. The score was 10 to 9.

Dusty Rhodes held the St. Louis Browns to four hits for eight innings and then was raked for three hits and four runs in the ninth, but the Philadelphia Athletics trimmed the St. Louis Browns 7 to 4 for their seventh triumph of the season. The game was featured by circuit drives by Peters, Clift and Hemsley.

A HARDER NUT TO CRACK

Art Chapman, who brought a spectacular one-handed delivery to the Windsor floor, was held to two baskets from the floor. He made only three out of ten free throws. No Victoria player made more than three field goals, and it wasn't because the invaders didn't have the chances.

To Toots Meretsky, young forward of the Fords, who appeared at Victoria last spring with Assumption College, belongs the credit for the victory lead fashioned by the locals in the first half. He dropped in six field goals in a brilliant display of marksmanship under the hoop. The Victoria defence didn't adjust itself to the quick-breaking attack of the locals until Meretsky had done his damage. He was held without a field goal in the second half. Meretsky was top scorer with sixteen points, making four fouls. Allison, another swift-moving Windsor forward, dropped in five goals from the floor.

Dominoes offered a brilliant display of ball handling for the edification of the Windsor fans, who agreed it was just as well that the globe-trotters blew so many shots. The Dominoes had put on a remarkable show of basket tossing in a workout Tuesday, and the most optimistic Windsor fan feared for the worst.

Although three Victoria players were banished for personal fouls, while only Meretsky of Fords was forced to leave the game because of them, the Dominoes had a total of only fourteen personals against seventeen for Fords.

Chuck Chapman, captain and guard of the Dominoes, after the game had this to say: "We were away off in our shooting, and the game was just like our first one in Winnipeg. The toilers gave us a real thumping, but we finished on top. We'll find those hoops in the next game. Another factor that worked a handicap on us was the loss of both regular guards in the second half, just when it looked as if we might knock down the Windsor lead.

Chapman paid tribute to the smart plays engineered by the Fords in the early stages of the game. He made no comment on the officialing.

With a large entry list a successful invitation tournament was staged yesterday at the Uplands Golf Club by club professional Walter Gravlin.

S. Mitchell and J. Titterington tied for low net with scores of 65, while Clarence Brynjolfson won the low gross prize with a neat 73. In the women's division, Mrs. J. Titterington was low net with a 70, and Dorothy Fletcher had an 88 to win the low gross award. Net scores of 75 and under will receive prizes, and those competitors are asked to call at the professional's shop for them.

Dorothy Round Suffers Defeat

Bournemouth, Eng., April 30.—Dorothy Round, 1934 Wimbledon Champion, was defeated today in the fourth round of the British hard court singles tennis championship by Mrs. M. R. King, 6-4, 6-2.

another point when he sank the throw on Meretsky's foul. Chapman then fouled Meretsky and the Windsor forward sank one of the two free throws.

The parade to the foul line continued. Martin missed a throw and Wiseman scored after being blocked by Chuck Chapman. Goldman then fouled Chapman and Art missed both tries, but tipped in the rebound of his second for a field goal.

Chuck Chapman followed Peden to the sidelines when he fouled Goldman, and Goldsmith went on for Dominoes. Goldman made the foul shot.

A double foul, Meretsky and Goldsmith, brought a point to each team, then Allison charged Art Chapman, who missed the awarded shot. With ten minutes to play, Fords were leading, 32 to 24.

PLENTY OF FOULS

They kept it up, Wiseman fouling Goldsmith, who made both shots, then Goldsmith fouled Meretsky, who also counted twice. Allison took a pass from Goldman and scored.

Allison to Meretsky to Goldman brought a field goal on a brilliant play. Mottishaw replaced Andrews and missed a penalty shot after Wiseman fouled him. Then Allison hooped a shot. Dominoes took time out with eight minutes to go, and when they resumed, Mottishaw grabbed the face-off and got in close before netting.

Meretsky fouled Art Chapman and Chapman sank both throws. Allison dropped in another field goal after a passing bout with Ed Dawson. Andrews made the foul award. Norm Dawson went in for Ed Dawson and Stewart replaced Meretsky, who had four fouls.

Goldman picked up a loose ball and scored from close in. Goldsmith made his fourth foul and was replaced by McKeachie. Stewart scored on the foul shot. Nantais was subbed for Stewart.

A double foul was called on Art Chapman and Nantais, and neither scored. Red Nantais went down the centre of the floor and flipped one in from fifteen feet out. Mottishaw scored and was fouled by Allison, the basket counting. He missed the foul shot.

Philadelphia, April 30.—Manager Rogers Hornsby of the St. Louis Browns announced today he had traded first baseman Irving Burns to the Detroit Tigers for Elon C. Hogsett, a left-handed pitcher, and an unannounced amount of cash.

MONAHAN WILL MEET GERMAN

Toronto Grappler Will Tangle With Rudy Strongberg in Semi-main Tilt

Another newcomer to Victoria's wrestling circles in the person of Gerry Monahan, heavyweight from Toronto, will appear on Saturday evening, when he meets Rudy Strongberg, powerful grappler from Germany, in the semi-main bout on the card at the Tillicum gym.

Monahan is a recent arrival on the coast. Since coming west he has been kept busy and has won the approval of fans in many cities.

This week's bout will be the third successive Victoria showing for Strongberg. Last week's engagement, when he lost a freak call to Al Karasick, was one of the fastest and most exciting ever put on in the local ring for some time. He will be a worthy opponent for the Canadian. They are billed to fight five eight-minute rounds.

The headline bout on the card will bring together "Man Mountain" Dean, 317-pound performer, and Bob Kruse, Oregon. Kruse, as local fans know, is a capable man in any class of wrestling, and expects to take the "fat man" into camp.

A local preliminary will open the card at 8.45 o'clock.

NINTH DAY OF ARGUMENT

Defence Counsel Pushes Fight to Save Three Indians From Gallows

Stuart Henderson today went into his ninth day of straight argument before the four sitting justices of the Court of Appeal in his fight to save from the gallows the three George brothers, Indians, convicted and sentenced to hang for the murder of Constable Gisbourne at the Canford Reserve in May, 1934.

Mr. Henderson, as the court recessed for luncheon, had concluded reading parts at the end of the remarks to the jury of Chief Justice Morrison, trial judge, which he said, indicated the Chief Justice was pressing the jury to reach a verdict after they had returned to ask questions.

"It was an improper way of treating a jury—he was dragooning the jury into bringing in a verdict," Mr. Henderson said.

Mr. Henderson argued that the killing of the constable was in self-defence because of the firing of the police gun among the Indians.

"The Indians were entitled to believe that life was endangered when the constable started shooting," said Chief Justice Macdonald. "The Indians did not know the gun was jammed and they had the right to believe that he would continue shooting."

Mr. Henderson declared there was no evidence by any eyewitness as to who struck the death blow. He read from the evidence to show the part played by each of the three accused.

Chief Justice Macdonald suggested speeding up.

"The argument cannot be done in a moment," said Mr. Henderson.

Chief Justice Macdonald—"The argument cannot be done in a moment—but you have been eight days now."

Mr. Henderson went on to argue that Chief Justice Morrison did not discriminate between Alex George and the other defendants and between what Alex was doing and what the others were doing at the time of the affray.

"There was no reference throughout by the trial judge to the evidence given by four of the defence witnesses regarding the time the gun went off," Mr. Henderson went on.

Mr. Justice M. A. Macdonald interjected there was no mechanical rule that the trial judge should refer to every one of the persons who had testified.

"But," replied Mr. Henderson, "there is a mechanical rule that when the judge mentions the crown witnesses and fails to mention the defence witnesses on the same point. The Chief Justice made no reference whatever to the witnesses for the defence, whose position was that there were no words until after the shot went off. And that is very important evidence for the defence. The defence witnesses testified there was no trouble until after the firing began.

Mr Henderson then began citing precedents.

As for common intent, Mr. Henderson claimed it must be agreed upon before an overt act is committed. Gisbourne could have acted in a more reasonable and less violent manner in his attempt to bring Eneas George in to be confronted by his wife, who had been stabbed the day before the fight, said Mr. Henderson.

Dealing with self defence and provocation, Mr. Henderson asserted the trial judge should have gone further in explaining onus—that when the defence brought up the question of self-defence and provocation they did not have to prove beyond reasonable doubt; that if there was reasonable doubt in the minds of the jury it should have been in favor of the accused.

Chief Justice Macdonald—Didn't Gisbourne have provocation when attacked by the Indians?

Mr. Henderson—That's the question. Was he justified in using a gun?

"When evidence of self-defence was introduced, we did not have to show beyond reasonable doubt, but only beyond any doubt," said Mr. Henderson. "This should have been left to the jury to decide."

The degree of proof by the Crown when self-defence was put forth is different from the degree required by defence, said Mr. Henderson.

It was proven beyond reasonable doubt that there was no fight until after the shot was fired, yet that was not explained to the jury, said defence counsel.

"Then the accused were entitled to believe their lives were in danger and that Gisbourne would continue shooting, as they didn't know his gun had jammed."

"That's the defence argument on this point," said Mr. Henderson.

Performance of "The Princess Who Hid Her Shoes" Wins Premier's Cup at Drama Festival

The junior championship of the British Columbia Drama Festival and the challenge cup presented by Premier Pattullo, yesterday afternoon went to the Cole Players for their performance of "The Princess Who Hid Her Shoes."

Five junior entries were heard during the afternoon. Miss Nellie C. Cornish, the adjudicator, had high praise for all of the performances, two of which were unfortunately disqualified because they came under the minimum time limit.

The winning play was written by Harriet Wright. It was directed by Enid Cole, and the cast was as follows: King, Ronald Grant, Prince, Dorothy Smith; Princess, June Short, and pages, Velma McLorie and Billie Chaster.

In her adjudication, Miss Cornish said the play was natural, simple and childlike. The performance had mood and feeling of a kind not always found in adult productions. The settings were excellent.

INDIVIDUAL HONORS

For individual work, the honors went to Eileen Chaster as Mrs. Jones in the Cole Players' presentation of "Mrs. Wiggin's Afternoon Tea." The piece, written and directed by Enid Cole, also included the following performers: Mrs. Wiggins (with a kind word for all), June Short; Mrs. Simmons (fussy with loads of advice), Gwennyth Philips; Mrs. Brown (scornful and gossipy), Dorothy Smith; Mrs. Wilkins (a flapper, just married), Ilace Roskelly; Mrs. Smith (with all the troubles in the world), Marjorie Braithwaite, and Millie Jones (lisping and tiny), Barbara Oakley.

Miss Cornish did not find this piece suitable for children. It was wrong, she said, to cast junior players in parts outside of their experience. But, she added, she had never seen better work of its type.

The presentation fell short of the set time limit and could not be judged.

"IN A STREET"

"This play needed pulling together, it did not seem to tie up at all," was Miss Cornish's verdict on "In a Street," presented by the Western School of Dancing, under the direction of Miss Dorothy Cox. The play, by Beatrice Mayor, was performed by the following cast: Eliza (first old lady), Ann Crowther; Anna (second old lady), Miriam Schawbe; an old gentleman, Bill Crowther; a young man, Rosemary James; a rag and bone merchant, Carol Watson; a dancer, Joy Groves; an actor, Barbara Henderson, and a street singer, Doreen Margetts.

However, said Miss Cornish, the individual work of the children was good. But again in this piece they were taking the parts of grown-ups.

The Royal Roads Schools performance of "Snow White and the Dwarfs" was handicapped by the absence through illness of some members of the cast. Holly Greer, as Snow White, was described by Miss Cornish as "a very charming little actress."

The playlet, written by Rodney Bennett, was directed by Miss R. W. Johnson. The full cast was: Snow White, Holly Greer; The Queen, Joan Piddington; The Prince, Sonia Stewart; The Forester, Mary Piddington, and dwarfs, Robin Francis, Phyllis Piddington, Olga Stratholt, Patricia Codville, Michael Piddington, Patricia Greer and Peggy Lou Godfrey.

Because it was under the time limit, "Rhymes of a Little Nursery," presented by the Peter Pan Players was also disqualified from competing.

However, Miss Cornish was enthusiastic in her praise for the performances of the children. "They all of them actually seemed to live their parts," she said. The play, which was all in rhyme, was beautifully produced in the opinion of the adjudicator.

The Dewdney Players' entry, "The Make Believe Princess," was withdrawn because of illness.

CIRCUS TO HAVE FINE PROGRAMME

Seventeen programme turns and several impromptu acts will be featured in the annual Y.M.C.A. circus which will be held on Friday and Saturday of May 15 and 16.

The event promises to be even bigger than ever this year, last season's one-night show being such a success that it was decided by the circus committee to have the show run two nights this time.

In addition to the many fine acts which are on the programme, music will be supplied by three and possibly four bands, with the Shrine group featured.

Tickets are already on sale and may be obtained from Y.M.C.A. members or at the office in the association building.

There will be a prize in the form of a year's membership for the boy who sells the most tickets, and several other fine prizes for the runners-up in the ticket selling campaign.

The circus committee, under the chairmanship of E. G. Rowebottom, will meet this evening at the Y.M.C.A. at 7.30 o'clock.

LIQUOR PROFITS CONTINUE GAINS

With sales continuing an upward trend, B.C. liquor profits for the year ending March 31 will show a substantial increase over the previous period, W. F. Kennedy, commissioner of the Liquor Control Board, indicated this morning. The returns are now being compiled and will be issued shortly. Profits were estimated in the budget at $2,335,000 but may surpass this total. Based on the business for the six months ending last September, an estimate of $2,750,000 was made for the current fiscal year, starting April 1.

GOOD SAVING ON NEW RATE

City Effects Economy of Approximately $540 Per Year on Changed Basis

Fire rate reductions coming into force here will afford the city a saving of approximately $540 a year on the original bid for blanket coverage, it was learned today.

A letter will go forward today to the City Council from Ker & Stephenson Limited informing the city that, owing to the new 10 per cent reduction in rates, the three-year costs for carrying blanket protection will be $1,617 less than originally scheduled.

The cut has reduced the rate on the blanket policy from $1.45 per $100 to $1.31.

Originally the blanket scheme, as approved by the council, would have cost approximately $16,450 for three years. Under the revised plan, it will cost in the neighborhood of $14,833.

Prior to the introduction of the blanket scheme, Victoria insured only part of its holdings, leaving those considered absolutely fireproof unprotected along with other buildings not figured worth insuring. Under the new blanket agreement the city will secure about double the protection at a cost less than that of the old partial coverage, which called for a three-year charge of about $16,100.

GRILSE FISHING SLUMPS FOR DAY

Mid-week fishers had little luck yesterday in fishing for grilse in Brentwood or Cowichan Bays. A stiff wind brought up the whitecaps in Cowichan Bay, and made it more or less unfavorable for rowers. Grilse catches in Saanich Inlet did not seem any too good, although anglers made up by getting fairly good quotas of jack springs.

Anglers reported that spring salmon weighing as high as fourteen pounds were jumping continuously around Elbow Point and the Deep Hole, in Brentwood yesterday. Frank Moore got four jack springs. He was using a four-inch abalone for a lure. Red Shemilt got four grilse.

Inspector O. Henton of the Shanghai Police, who is visiting the city for two months, has now rented a cabin at Cowichan Bay for two weeks for the fishing. His quotas have been excellent. He says he is having a fine time.

Stan "Blondy" Williams reported today that Charlie Wilson, well-known local angler, landed ten cutthroat in Fork and Fissle Lake. Prospect Lake is good at present, and fish are being caught by the trollers, which is the same at Shawnigan Lake. Occasionally fly fishing has been successful.

COAST HOTELS ARE CONFIDENT

Frank G. Bodin, Representative of Twenty-five Houses, Here Today

Hotels up and down the coast are looking forward with confidence to the coming season, according to Frank G. Bodin, representative of twenty-five independent houses—from British Columbia to southern California, who is in Victoria today on a combined business and pleasure trip.

This spring, he says, has seen a considerable increase in hotel business. There was a slack period just after Easter, but that has now passed.

Mr. Bodin is here to learn as much as he can about Victoria and the neighborhood. The Dominion Hotel here is among the houses which he represents, and he wants to have all the information he can on hand for the benefit of tourists. His headquarters are in Los Angeles.

Of conditions in the United States he said this morning: "Things are not quite so good as the politicians try to make out. Depressions in the past were always allowed to go to rock bottom. This time they've poured in millions of dollars and stooped in going the whole way. I think it will have to go there yet."

Mr. Bodin was this morning setting off by car on a drive round the city and the Saanich peninsula. Tomorrow he will go up the island and then across to Vancouver.

"Well, Sir?" Said Clerk, But It Was Really a Woman

Masculine Costume, Viewed From the Business Side of the Registration Desk, Brings Consternation to Hotel Employees and Guests Alike

"Yes, sir?" said the obliging clerk, inquiringly.

Met by a frigid stare, and eager to be of service, he smiled his blandest, and hastened to add: "What can I do for you, sir?"

"I'm checking out this afternoon and would like my bill," the guest said huskily.

"Please apply at the cashier's cage," was the information volunteered.

As the guest strode away, the clerk glimpsed a skirt of tailored tweed. He was dumfounded and looked again, hardly believing his eyes.

From his side of the desk, he had seen a masculine form of approximately 200 pounds in weight, with closely cropped hair, wearing horn-rimmed glasses and the mental impression gained by the fleeting appraisal was borne out by the strictly tailored coat and vest, surmounted by a soft white collar and colorful tie.

At that moment the porter on duty appeared on the scene excited.

He had been in the same quandary.

The annual meeting of the Victoria Choral Union will be held on Tuesday evening, May 5, in Memorial Hall, Vancouver Street, at 8 o'clock. Reports of officers and accounts in connection with the performance of Brahm's "Requiem" will be read and the election of new officers will take place. Plans for future performances will be discussed.

DRUGGISTS TO DISCUSS PLANS

Representatives of local druggists, following a meeting with the city's health and relief committees yesterday, were referring a special schedule to members of the business for providing drugs to the city's relief cases. If the schedule is acceptable to druggists generally, they will bring to the city proposals for supply, it was understood today.

Yesterday the druggist delegation undertook to take up with their main body the suggestion that drugs be supplied to city relief cases on a basis of cost plus 33⅓ per cent for overhead and small profit and fifteen cents dispensing fee.

It was hoped that the city's drug bill might be materially reduced from the point it reached last year if that policy were adopted

COUNSEL DENIES MURDER INTENT

Stuart Henderson Argues Legal Points in Indians' Appeal Against Death Sentence

There was no common intent on the part of Eneas, Richardson and Alex George to kill Constable Gisbourne, Stuart Henderson, defence counsel, contended before the court of appeal justices in continuing his appeal against conviction of the three Indian brothers for the murder of the officer on the Canford Reserve, near Merritt, May 23, 1934.

Mr. Henderson is asking for a third trial, the trio having been convicted at Vernon in June, 1934, and at Vancouver last October. Joseph George, a fourth brother, who was badly battered up in the fight that resulted in the deaths of Gisbourne and Provincial Constable Percy Carr, was acquitted at the Vancouver hearing.

Continuing his attack on the trial judge's charge to the jury, the chief defence counsel argued there was no reference to the evidence of Joseph Edwards or the four defence witnesses on the question of firing the shot by Gisbourne which defence claims precipitated the general melee between the Indians and the two officers.

"Not one word was said about these witnesses; this was absolute misdirection by teh trial judge and we were condemned before anything was said," asserted Mr. Henderson.

NO COMMON INTENT BEFORE SHOT

He then asked: "Could common intent include anyone but Richardson George? If there was common intent it had to be after firing of the shot. There was nothing to warrant the belief of agreement among the Georges to kill Gisbourne."

Attorney-General Sloan: "The Crown claims common intent was shown when Gisbourne said to the four brothers: 'I want Eneas,' which was followed by resistance and the fight."

Mr. Henderson: "Then what excuse was there for acquitting Joseph George?"

Mr. Henderson: "If Joseph was acquitted, the others should be."

Defence counsel then dealt with the angle of aiding and abetting as put to the jury, taking the case of Alex George, the twenty-two-year-old brother. It wasn't shown, he said, that what happened after the shot was fired might have made Alex an accessory, but didn't include him in the question of common intent. The only position the trial judge should have taken was to segregate evidence against the accused.

WAS THERE COMBINATION?

Chief Justice Macdonald: "If there was a combination then each party is responsible for the murder. Supposing the combination took place before the shot was fired and Alex went to the chief's house later, what then?"

Defence counsel replied that the onus was on the Crown to show that Alex was in the combination. Nothing was shown to this effect. Each of the accused should have been dealt with separately.

When the Chief Justice interjected that the jury said there was a combination, Mr. Henderson replied the jury said so on insufficient instruction by the trial judge.

The Chief Justice: "Then if no combination was shown, each of the accused would have to be proven guilty individually."

Mr. Henderson: "That's my point; there is nothing to base the charge of combination. If even a doubt of evidence, then each prisoner was entitled to individual treatment. As for Alex, there were admissions that put him in an entirely different status. He took no part in the fight, only ran three times to the chief's house to report what was happening. There was nothing to show he took part in the fight."

JUDGE CRITICIZED

Mr. Henderson charged that Juror Prentice was shut off from asking a question by Chief Justice Morrison, trial judge at the October assizes when the Indians were convicted for the second time. Instead of permitting Mr. Prentice to ask a question, Chief Justice Morrison remarked;

"Now, gentlemen, if you want a good sleep tonight do let us have the opportunity to have the same thing."

Chief Justice Morrison was in error in making that remark, said Mr. Henderson, and Juror Prentice did not follow up his query.

During the second trial, when the question of malicious intent arising after the fight between the constable and the Indians stated became an issue, Attorney-General Sloan, as prosecutor, asked that the judge instruct the jury on malice or common intent.

The trial judge's instructions on common intent, formed the main objection by the chief defence counsel, who claimed some of that part of the charge to the jury should have been withdrawn. Chief Justice Morrison, he asserted, wanted to impress the jury in favor of the crown.

Mr. Justice M. A. Macdonald: "But the jury was not influenced."

Mr. Henderson contended that his statement there was no common intent was the absolute truth, while the trial judge's reference was pure inuendo. The foreman of the jury, he argued, also tried to be agreeable with the trial judge.

Mr. Henderson asserted he stated what was evidence, but the trial judge stated what was not evidence, withdrew some of his charge and then asked for a verdict.

Chief Justice Macdonald: "He did not intend to give a verdict without consideration, surely?"

Mr. Henderson: "Certainly he did. The jury asked about malice."

MORRISON EDITED REPORT

Mr. Henderson then brought up the question of the jury returning and asking for a transcript of that part of Chief Justice Morrison's charge relating to malice.

The transcript was ready at midnight, said Mr. Henderson, but before it was handed to the jury he had no opportunity of objecting, and the charge of the jury on common intent was not the same as appeared in the appeal books.

The court stenographer had refused to certify the charge as appeared in the transcript, owing to it having been altered by Chief Justice Morrison, Mr. Henderson sad.

Mr. Sloan at this point told their lordships this point was not open for the Appeal Court to determine. He objected to the introduction of this angle of Mr. Henderson's notice of appeal.

Chief Justice Macdonald asked Mr. Henderson if the transcript of proceedings taken from the official stenographer's notes had been edited and changed before being handed to the jury?

Mr. Henderson: "Yes, that's it."

Mr. Justice M. A. Macdonald: "The stenographer was given the changed copy as given to the jury. That was a perfectly proper and innocent thing. There was no harm in making corrections or alterations."

"POISON" INJECTED

Mr. Henderson retorted there was harm in altering the copy, as it was not the same as the spoken instructions. The copy in its original form contained three important particulars not in the transcript copy. They referred to onus. He asked that the offical stenographer be called to read his notes.

Mr. Justice Martin pointed out that the jury had considered the transcript for over two hours, and, such being the case, there was no alteration in their copy.

"What," he asked, "would it profit us to have the original document?"

Mr. Henderson: "There are certain things that can be said at a trial that can not be taken back."

Mr. Justice Martin: "I grant that the poison may not have been eradicated."

Defence counsel claimed the altered document could have been argued in the jury room as not what the trial judge had said orally, and the document could have been shown to prove it was. Yet, he asserted, the harm could have been done. No statement should have been given the jury that was not said in court.

Mr. Justice M. A. Macdonald: "You say the oral statement might have been implanted in the minds of the jury? The jurors said they couldn't carry in their minds the full oral statement and wanted a printed copy."

Mr. Henderson: "But what was said might have governed their minds. A false or wrong practice destroys justice and that was wrong practice."

Chief Justice Macdonald concurred that a false transcript might mislead a jury.

Mr. Justice M. A. Macdonald: "I do not agree at all. There is no justification for criticizing the trial judge for changing his oral statement. What could be fairer. Both counsel were given copies and no objection was offered by them."

Mr. Henderson: "I was entitled to believe my copy had not been altered."

Mr. Sloan: "You had it for more than two hours."

Mr. Justice M. A. Macdonald: "You were given it to read, not to fondle."

IRREGULAR PRACTICE

Mr. Justice Martin agreed it was irregular practice to alter the transcript, but did not believe it was necessary for the official stenographer to certify the pages.

Chief Justice Macdonald also agreed it was improper to change the oral statement but asked Mr Henderson if he had any proof that the trial judge made charges not justified.

Mr. Justice Martin also wanted to know if anything of a substantial nature had been altered.

Mr. Justice M. A. Macdonald: "Just tilting at windmills. There is nothing material to go on."

Mr. Henderson: "The court seems unanimous against me." And the request for the official stenographer to be present was dropped.

Defence counsel then cited references to certain criminal cases on the question of common intent.

The crown, he claimed, presumed common intent on part of the four George brothers. Common intent, he went on, must mean agreement to do harm. It was true the four were together when Gisbourne was killed, but even if one of them killed the Crown must prove agreement to justify their charges of common intent.

Chief Justice Macdonald: "They were resisting arrest and that meant all were in agreement as to what would follow at the time of the fight."

Mr. Henderson: "That's the Crown's argument on common intent. Yes, that is what was put to the jury."

The report of Chief Justice Morrison on his charge to the jury states that only a few minor inaccuracies were corrected and that the transcript constituted his actual charge to the jury on the particular points in dispute.

Cedar Shakes

for beauty that's more than roof-deep

EVEN the modest house takes on the character of a distinguished home when roofed with Red Cedar Shakes. For, shakes impart a distinctive charm in line and shadow impossible to secure with any other medium. And, this picturesque beauty is more than roof-deep.

The Cedar Shake roof is a substantial roof, good for fifty years in all weathers. Similarly its insulation qualities make it a valued factor for fuel economy. The Cedar Shake roof certifies a warm home in winter and a cool home in summer.

A roof can make or mar a home. Actual design is also a factor. But, given two very modest homes, that roofed with Red Cedar Shakes will reflect a decided enhancement, not only in appearance but in actual market value. It looks the best, it is the best.

Home builders will do well to study these points in favor of Cedar Shakes. A cedar roof is superior at any time, but a roof of cedar shakes is a first class investment in durability and charm.

For added years of roof service use Zinclad or copper nails. Avoid using ordinary wire nails. For best results, when planning a home, it is wise economy to consult a reputable architect.

Judge Therefore Rules Hoyle-Brown Holdings Safe For Estate of Founder

Because of the unusual business ability and efficiency manifested by William Ellis Brown from the time he incorporated Hoyle-Brown Ltd., wholesale tobacconists, in 1922 until his death in February, 1935, his estate will now be able to continue to hold his 1,499 shares out of the total of 2,500 in Hoyle-Brown instead of cashing in on them and investing in securities as called for under the Trustee Act.

Mr. Justice Robertson of the Supreme Court yesterday afternoon gave judgment, following the presentation of M. B. Jackson, K.C., counsel for the estate.

Alice Caroline Brown, the widow, was joined in asking the court for the Trustee Act exemption by the children, Cecil Ellis Brown, Kathleen Margaret Brown Parrott, Patricia Mary Brown Lobsinger, Constance Sylvia Brown, Phyllis Elizabeth Brown Innis, Josephine Alice Brown.

In proof that Hoyle-Brown shares were a sound investment for an estate, Mr. Jackson said that besides the fixed executive's salary and expenses paid Mr. Brown, his 1,499 shares from 1931 to 1934 had returned him $13,225 in extra profits and bonuses and in one year, 1935, had returned $4,800. Sales had risen from $196,000 in 1964 to $222,000 in 1935. Of the rest of the stock two shares were held by Mrs. Brown, one share by F. E. Winslow and 999 shares by W. L. Woodhouse, managing director. Mr. Brown's estate had been probated at $41,105.

Mr. Woodhouse submitted the company was in very sound condition, with "volume of trade and turnover increasing from year to year, no bonded or mortgage indebtedness, a cash balance in the bank and every sound reason to expect still larger increases of business and even greater profits." He asserted the company carried a debt-free stock in trade of $14,000.

"Under the very special and unusual circumstances of this case, I order the the trustees be at liberty to retain unconverted the 1,499 shares for one year," said Mr. Justice Robertson.

STORY WRITING IS ILLUSTRATED

Kipling's Works Are Reviewed by Miss Jeanette Cann, of College Staff

Kipling's complete mastery of the art of writing a short story was well illustrated by Miss Jeanette Cann of Victoria College in her address on the author given to the members of the Victoria Kipling Society on Tuesday night.

Commenting on the incident that concludes his well-known story "Without Benefit of Clergy," she stated that only a genius would have rounded off his brief sketch with an ending that implied so much in such few words.

Miss Cann, whose subject was "The Place of Kipling in Literature," opened her address by commenting on the difficulties of defining the writer whose immortality will be assured in future generations.

In the memory of the older generation of today Tennyson was classed as a giant among the poets and R. L. Stevenson as a master of style and prose. Yet in the present day both are regarded as second rate, though it is possible their fall from favor may be a temporary one.

TEST OF TIME

Public opinion was no criterion of good work, she said, some of the poorest novels, from a literary standpoint, and the weakest stage plays having enjoyed great popularity. The true test of all writers was time, and the future generations were often in a position to pass better judgment on an author than those who were contemporary with him. The final decision was the opinion of the small band of true critics whose mature and well-considered judgment decided the classics of literature. It was in these hands that the final judgment of Kipling will rest, she said.

Poetry could arouse an emotional response due to association from its readers, or it could charm and awaken a response due to an aesthetic taste by the strength and beauty of the words used by the poet, even if, as sometimes happened, the ideas expressed were not in accord with those of the reader.

The English critic Megro, in his recently-published book, "Modern English Poetry," was not altogether favorable in his comments on Kipling's poetry. In the opinion of the speaker, Kipling's fame rested chiefly on his prose writings. Much of his poetry was uneven in its quality, though there were passages of true poetic beauty, as in his well-known "Sussex" poem. But he wrote poetry in his prose, in illustration of which, Miss Cann read a passage from the first story of "Puck of Pooks Hill," describing the meadow where the children played, "smelling of meadow-sweet and dry grass." The author's delineation of children, whether white or brown, children of the present day or of past ages, was a faultless performance. He seemed to have the power of entering into the child's mind and seeing the world from their point of view, and the result was stories that charmed young and old alike.

The president, A. E. G. Cornwell, spoke of the pleasure which the address had given the members, and a vote of thanks was proposed by K. C. Symons and seconded by F. R. Leighton, both of whom commented on the critical and educational value of the evening.

Questions and discussions brought the evening to a close. The president reminded the members that the next meeting in May will be the annual meeting, when election of officers will take place.

It is estimated that during the 440 years between 1493 and 1933 a total of 14,000,000,000 ounces of silver has been taken from the earth in the Western Hemisphere alone.

Members of St. Mary's Men's Guild yesterday afternoon visited the Red Cross workshop here, where work carried on by war veterans was inspected and received warm praise from the visitors, who expressed at the extent and importance of the shop's activities.

The party was headed by Rev. Canon A. E. Nunns and S. W. Brock, vice-president of the guild. Work on each of the three floors was inspected.

The woodworkers' shop, the metal shop, and the paint shop were included in the itinerary and considerable interest was also evinced in the picture framing department and the room where wreaths and poppies are made.

The tour was conducted by Major Stanley Okell, who was complimented by the visitors for the general efficiency of the shop.

"Once you drive a Hudson . . . no other Eight will do!"

EVERYWHERE our local Hudson owners are telling friends how their Hudson's outperform anything on the road . . . in traffic, on hills, effortless all-day travel.

The reason? Because this Hudson has more power than any other Eight within hundreds of dollars of its price . . . and the smoothest automobile motor built. No vibration at any speed . . . longer life for the car . . . less "wear" on the driver!

They are telling, too, how much more comfort there is, front seat or back, because this new Hudson Eight has more length, more rear seat room, leg room, head room, than any other popular Eight.

They are praising Hudson's easier, safer way of driving, too . . . with the Electric Hand. Gear shifting at a finger flick, without taking their hands from the wheel. And at last, real comfort for three to ride in front . . . with a floor all clear of gear and brake levers.

Let us show you what other owners have found out about Hudson economy and long life. Then take your "Discovery Drive" in a Hudson Eight with the Electric Hand.

Jameson Motors Limited, Hudson Dealer

Some reasons why Hudson rules the Eights

Hudson Eight Prices Begin at $1130

Motoring CONTENTMENT for you and yours . .

● This spring, a thousand trails are calling you . . . smiling landscapes spread across Canada . . . a paradise of lake and wood and plain, of towering hills and mountains, of rich valleys and winding streams . . .

Take your choice . . . go where fancy bids . . . in your rolling "castle on wheels" . . . made safe and invulnerable for you by modern engineering and protective designing . . .

Make it a safe and carefree holiday . . . let no "weakest link" remain to cause you subconscious worry . . . ride on Goodyears!

Goodyear is the only tire that offers you proofs of safety and long wear before you buy. Any Goodyear dealer can demonstrate for you the tests that form your assurance of trustworthiness and comfort. The smiling landscapes beckon . . . make them happy landscapes . . . ride on Goodyears!

PROOF . . .

Your Goodyear dealer will show you "footprints" of actual tires on cars owned near you, which still retain safe traction after very long mileage.

These will substantiate for you the two extra Goodyear qualities which the dealer will demonstrate to you—1. That Supertwist Cords retain their "life" much longer than ordinary cords, thus keeping Goodyear Tires out of trouble and vastly prolonging their life . . . and . . . 2. That the All-Weather diamond tread stoutly resists skidding even on smooth wet surfaces.

Ask to see these proofs BEFORE YOU BUY.

Artist Paints W. C. Fields

COLUMBIA THEATRE

Today, Friday and Saturday is being shown "The Man They Could Not Hang," the true life story of John Lee, at the Columbia Theatre. This talking picture was completed only four months ago and comes to Victoria on an early lap of a world tour.

Unlike most "movies," only a few copies are ever released, since the owners—appreciating their obligation to the central character, John Lee—never show it without special added attractions.

Bright Show Opens Tonight

Gyros Offer "Big Broadcast" for Hamper Fund

At 8.15 the curtain will go up on the "Big Broadcast," benefit performance of the Gyro Club in aid of its annual Christmas Hamper Fund. Throughout the entire show, the broadcasting theme is carried out and amplifiers have been set up in the theatre.

The show opens with a minstrel act, in which Harry S. Hay, noted local singer and former star of the Canadian Radio Commission, will be seen as interlocutor. Sam Harrison, veteran character actor; Harry Warburton, Benny McMillan and John Robertson will be starred as end men and will sing various novelty tunes. They will be assisted by an orchestra and chorus.

The chorus of the show comprises fifty mixed voices and this group will be heard in many novel arrangements of both popular dance ditties and "better" music. Special arrangements of selections from "Rose Marie," including the title tune, "Indian Love Call" and "Kinkajou" will be presented.

Soloists with the chorus include Peggy Moore, Katharine Bowden, Lily Hunt, Ola Minnis, Frank Ivings, Dudley Wickett, Cliff Prescott, Arthur Jackman and Harry Hay.

For those who like dancing there will be specialties by Roberta Balcolm, and Miriam Schwabe and the dance team of Pogson and Adams. Several difficult dance routines have been arranged for presentation by students of Violet Powkes School of the Dance and the Russian Ballet School under the direction of Dorothy Wilson.

In the radio drama, "Little Nell," the following will be seen: Everett Taylor, Eric Chalmers, Betty Petch.

Bert Osborough, Harry Savage and Bill Hudson will be sound men. In a take-off on the National Barn Dance programme, two stars will be featured, while kiddies will have their chance in the "Stars of the Future" act.

CAPITOL THEATRE

In Walter Wanger's "The Trail of the Lonesome Pine," which is now at the Capitol Theatre, the producers have taken an immortal story, beloved by two generations, selected a superb cast, headed by Sylvia Sidney, Fred MacMurray and Henry Fonda, and have added the magic of outdoor technicolor photography, which is so natural, so lifelike and so perfect that one loses the sense of being in a theatre.

"RENDEZVOUS" AT THE PLAZA

William Powell Has Leading Role; "Miss Pacific Fleet" Is Second Feature

Innermost secrets of America's Black Chamber are unfolded on the screen in Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's "Rendezvous," William Powell's newest starring picture, opening today at the Plaza Theatre, formerly known as the Playhouse.

At the time of the World War, when the genius of the Black Chamber tracked down numerous international spies who were betraying America to the enemy, the famous department occupied a wing at the corner of the State, War and Navy Building in Washington and was connected with the Secretary of War's office by a covered passage.

Although small in size, the Black Chamber was one of the most important structures in the Washington landscape. Its roof harbored a chemical room, where spies' garments and messages impregnated with invisible inks and dyes were shorn of their death-dealing secrets. This room has been recreated in every detail for the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture.

Airplane Romance To Be Shown Here

"Thirteen Hours by Air," a dramatic story of romance and intrigue aboard a speeding transport plane, opens tomorrow at the Dominion Theatre.

Fred MacMurray and Joan Bennett play the leading roles in the film. The two leads are supported by a big and extremely capable cast, including ZaSu Pitts, John Howard, Bennie Bartlett, Grace Bradley, Alan Baxter, Brian Donlevy, Ruth Donnelly and Fred Keating! Mitchell Leisen, who made "Hands Across the Table," directed the new film, and as you might suspect, his latest effort has all the speed and smoothness of the former.

"Thirteen Hours by Air" is a dramatic chronicle of the adventures that befall half-a-dozen passengers and the crew of a transport plane as it zooms across the country from New York to San Francisco.

Playhouse Will Be Known As The Plaza

The theatre district took on a new brightness yesterday evening when the Playhouse Theatre name was changed to the Plaza Theatre with the name in gigantic letters of high fidelity neon trimmed with over 400 blinking border lights.

Steels and Rails In Van of Forward Wall St. Movement

Associated Press

New York, April 30.—Steels and rails rallied a shaky stock market today for net gains of fractions to three or more points. There were a few wider advances at the close.

The ticker tape fell behind on the late upturn as the buying rush enveloped virtually the entire list. Transfers approximated 2,500,000 shares.

The list reversed itself after a sharp sell-off around noon had knocked many of the leaders down one to around four points. The demand dwindled somewhat near the finish.

The recovery was attributed largely to technical factors involved in the recent severe slumps. An "oversold" condition, it was said, had developed.

Bethlehem Steel attracted a large following as good news was hoped for from the directors of the company meeting after the conclusion of trading.

The effect of Secretary Morgenthau's statement that the national deficit for the current fiscal year would aggregate $5,966,000,000, was debatable.

American Telephone, off nearly four points at one time, came back with the rest. Others conspicuous in the upper bracket included Union Pacific, Southern Pacific, Santa Fe, N.Y. Central, Northern Pacific, U.S. Steel, Chrysler, Case, Johns-Manville, Allied Chemical, Westinghouse, Du Pont, Consolidated Edison and Kennecott.

Wheat pushed up at Chicago, but other commodities were mixed. Bonds were mixed, as were leading foreign currencies.

MINES GAIN MODERATELY

Canadian Press

Toronto, April 30.—The mining market churned about with some violence today and finally straightened away for a moderate climb in the last hour.

McIntyre lost about 2 points and Lake Shore and Hollinger dropped fractions while other senior golds remained firm. Little Long Lac backed up 40 cents to 6.80, Pickle Crow and Central Patricia were soft. Hard Rock closed at 1.12 for a loss of 3 cents.

Noranda dropped ¼, and prices were slightly lower for Hudson Bay, Ventures and Sherritt. A loss of a point for Royalite was the main change in the oils.

Winnipeg Futures Gain In Line With Outside Markets

Canadian Press

Winnipeg, April 30.—Clearing weather southeast and good export sales of Canadian wheat led to fractionally higher prices for futures on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange today. Values closed ⅜ to ½ cent higher, May at 79⅞, July 80⅞ and October 81⅞ to 82 cents.

Firmness of all outside markets also was conducive to the improved tone of the local exchange. Export sales totalled 750,000 bushels.

High temperatures reported from winter wheat areas led to gains of more than 1½ cents at Chicago and Minneapolis. Liverpool closed ⅜d to ⅝d advanced.

All grades of cash wheat were in demand at firm prices. Coarse grains prices tended to easiness.

REORGANIZATION ATTEMPTS FAIL

Canadian Press

Quebec, April 30.—Attempts made to reorganize the bankrupt newsprint unit of Price Brothers and Company failed at a meeting today of shareholders and creditors.

A scheme for rehabilitating the enterprise sponsored by the company was defeated when it failed to obtain the necessary 75 per cent of the votes of creditors. Earlier both preference and common shareholders had unanimously approved of the company's scheme.

Creditors were led by Aime Geoffrion, K.C., Montreal, representing the Saguenay Power Company, who denounced the reorganization plan as unsound.

Counting of the creditor's vote showed the plan had received only 62 per cent of the total claims.

Paul Hutchison, president of Price Brothers, asked that legal doubt be taken into consideration in declaring the plan defeated. He said the situation was due to the opposition of the Saguenay Power Company alone.

Mr. Geoffrion said Pacona Limited, the aluminum subsidiary, which owned the company's bonds, had a new plan to offer, which he believed would be effective in restoring the bankrupt company inasmuch as it was based on a sound bonded indebtedness and carried a participating interest for preferred and common shareholders.

ARREST MADE IN WENDEL CASE

Sol Marcus to Face Count in New York on Kidnap Charge

Associated Press

Trenton, N.J., April 30.—Assistant District Attorney Francis Madden of Queen's County, N.Y., announced today the arrest of Sol Marcus, twenty-three, of Trenton, in connection with the Paul H. Wendel case.

Madden said Marcus was arrested on a fugitive warrant as an accessory to the Wendel kidnapping. Marcus was held without bail.

Lieut. James di Louie of the Trenton police, who accompanied the Brooklyn detectives in making the arrest, said Marcus had delivered money "from someone in New Jersey" to those charged in Brooklyn with kidnapping Wendel. The kidnapping delayed the execution of Bruno Richard Hauptmann for the Lindbergh baby kidnapping three days.

Di Louie said he was informed Marcus would be indicted in Brooklyn today.

SLAYER FOUND TO BE INSANE

Associated Press

Mr. Justice Finlay immediately ordered him committed to an institution for the criminal insane.

Dr. Harold Bedford-Russell, surgeon, yesterday testified Burton was suffering from an "explosive brain" when he attacked Bose.

Gilfillan, manager of the Royal York Hotel branch of the Bank of Montreal, is charged with theft of $35,458 in securities during 1933-36.

Ottawa, April 30.—Butter was firmer and cheese steady on United Kingdom markets, according to cable advice received today by the Department of Agriculture. Quotations:

Butter—New Zealand, 87s to 88s per cwt. (19.22c to 19.44c per lb.); Australian, 86s to 87s per cwt. (19.00c to 19.22c per lb.).

Canada May Send Commission to Find Wheat Markets

TWO CHIEF OPINIONS

There were fundamental differences of opinion in the committee as to the best means of dealing with the wheat situation, M. J. Coldwell, C.C.F., Rosetown-Biggar, Sask., stated. One group undoubtedly wanted to go along with an open market. Another group believed in a controlled system. The only difficulty he saw in a commission was to get impartial men on the commission. Men the government might consider impartial might not be considered by the producers.

FIGURES WANTED

Dissatisfaction with the evidence supplied by Mr. Murray was expressed by E. E. Perley, Conservative, Qu'Appelle, Sask., because it had not included the offers and acceptances of the Wheat Board on December 13, the date complained of.

This information was on its way from Winnipeg, Mr. Murray said, but it would not show the short interests. The auditors' report showed the transactions and the board had demanded payments of the firms which the auditors had found were not entitled to the 87¼ cent rate on December 13, and were made to pay the market price of 89⅞ cents.

MORE SURPRISES

In suggesting an analysis by a royal commission Mr. Murray emphasized that present world production with normal crops was bound to build up burdensome surpluses unless something were done about it. He asked how Canada could continue to grow crops of 385,000,0000 bushels to 425,000,000 bushels and fit into the world picture without again piling up unwieldly and burdensome surpluses.

He read a statement to the committee representing the considered opinion of the board as to future policy.

EUROPEAN WHEAT

Mr. Murray summarized his suggestion in part as follows:

"Is it generally realized that if we are to survive as a wheat exporter we must market more of our wheat in Europe and other countries than in Britain?

"What are we going to do about it?

"In my humble opinion we need a new start and a new approach. . . .

"The reduction of our present burdensome surplus will not solve our wheat problem. Our problem is not one for western farmers alone. It is a challenge to bankers, railway men, manufacturers, wholesalers and every interest in Canada whose prosperity depends largely on our marketing the exportable surplus available from crops of about 400,000,000 bushels of wheat . . .

"We need an independent body to visit the buyers of wheat in importing countries and to come back and tell us what these buyers think of our product and our policies.

"In short, we need an intelligent, impersonal analysis of our wheat marketing problem and we can get it only through investigation by a commission of able men who have nothing but the national interest to serve."

U.S. Navy Vote Is $531,068,707

Bill Sent to House by Committee Sets Record for Republic

Associated Press

Washington, April 30. — A record peace-time naval appropriation bill providing $531,068,707 for adding more ships, air fighters and men to the nation's sea defences was approved today by the House Appropriations Committee.

Authority to build two new battleships was granted—provided any foreign signatory of a naval treaty should begin capital ship replacement.

Frankly stating it had in mind the apparent mandate of Congress in the Vinson-Trammell treaty-naval act of "a navy second to none," the appropriations committee said its bill would add to funds otherwise available to give the navy $592,237,707 during the 1937 fiscal year beginning July 1.

INCREASE OVER 1936

The bill's total is $49,337,328 above the 1936 appropriations of $481,731,379, but $18,522,592 under the $549,591,299 budget estimates.

The strong net was flung over Lady Beth and the ropes were cut off so that it could not be drawn back. Next a great lava rock was attached to it. Niarchus was determined that this was to be the final journey of the net and its human content beneath Terodach's dark waters.

The executioners seized the net and swung it to and fro over the lake. A dismal chant rose from the throng—a hymn in praise of their bloodthirsty Baal—a hateful dirge for his newest victim. Then, at a word from Niarchus, the net was released, and plunged downward! . . .

. . . At that moment, Dr. Jeremiah Jones was stumbling along a rock mountainside that walled the great crater of Canaan. He was unaware of the tragedy being enacted on the other side, just as he was ignorant of the fact that he was moving away from camp.

Unhurriedly he picked his way along the slope, stopping frequently to examine some curious geological formation that intrigued him. He was wholly unconscious of the tawny beast that trailed him, its cruel, penetrating, yellow-green eyes following his every move!

The Gumps

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

DEAR MISS DIX:—What is there about an unmarried man that seems to make him a martyr? This is a question that I and the rest of the single men would like to have answered.

The only reason the average young man is not married is because he hasn't met the right girl, or he hasn't enough money. Neither of these is a social or legal crime, but it seems to make the man who hasn't a wife unpopular. Everything will seem to be going nicely until you mention you are not married, then, as the cigarette advertisements tell us, there's a difference.

In business being unmarried is a distinct handicap. If anyone has to stay at the office, the single chump is elected; if anyone is going to get panned or saddled with an extra load, lonesome buck draws the short straw. But when an easy spot comes along, or a raise is scheduled, our married friend gets it. The poor single sucker can work himself into a nervous breakdown and it is no more than is expected of him, but let a married man do a little something extra and they pin a medal on him. Say you are single and right away you are limburger, but if you are married you get the glad hand. Is that fair? Is there no justice?

E. J. B.

Answer—This is the first time I have ever been called upon to listen to the bachelor's lament. Always, heretofore, he has lifted up his voice in a merry roundelay in which he celebrated his freedom and told how much better off he was than the poor, oppressed, down-trodden and henpecked married man.

Mr. Kipling warned men that "they travel the fastest who travel alone." "When I was single my pockets did jingle" was a popular ditty for many years. While the old maid has always been an object of sympathy, the old bachelor has generally provoked envy in the breast of his fellows who have looked upon him with awe and wonder as one possessed of almost supernatural cunning and luck in having escaped the pitfalls that husband-hunting women have spread for his feet.

So it amazes me to hear that a single man regards himself as an object of pity and nurses the illusion that he is discriminated against in society and in business. Surely you are mistaken and are regarding the situation with a jaundiced eye.

No doubt during the depression married men were given the preference over single men when one or the other had to be dropped from the payroll. But that was because of an unusual emergency and because of the claims that the family man had upon him. In prosperous times the single man frequently gets the breaks just because he can go where the married man can't take a wife.

In some professions it is a distinct advantage to a man to be single. In the church, for instance, nothing wakes up the religious fervor of the female part of the congregation like having a young unmarried preacher. And in medicine many women will push the fortunes of the young doctor who is single who wouldn't bother to interest themselves in a married doctor. Taking it all in all, the married man is better off than the single man, but the single man has his compensations and it is absurd to deny them.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX—I have been married for sixteen years to one of the best men in the world. Several years ago my husband was taken ill and had to quit work. The doctor advised him to go to the country. We did so. My husband's health has improved a great deal and he just loves it in the country and wants to buy a farm. Says he would rather die than go back to the city to live. While he is perfectly happy, I do not want to live in the country. I want to go back to the city. In the country we have everything to make us comfortable—a nice house, a cow, pigs and chickens, and a lovely garden. Of course, if we went back, my husband would have no job and would have to look for something to do, but I think if he really loved me he would take me back. Please tell me what to do.

PUZZLED.

Answer—I think the thing for you to do is to make yourself satisfied with living in the country, because evidently that is the only place in which your husband can be healthy and happy. If you force him to go back to town to please you and he has to go through all the strain and stress and anxiety of trying to find a job, he will break down and probably die.

You see things have changed so much since you left the city. Old firms have failed or gone out of business. New people have come in. New business methods are in vogue. Another man has your husband's job who would not be discharged in order to give it back to him. And, anyway, a man who is in poor health and who has been out of his job for a few years has no chance in competition with the healthy, husky young chaps who are doing things in a modern manner.

My advice to you is to go down to the city for which you pine so much, stay a month or so and see how you react to it. When we are away from our old homes we idealize them. We remember nothing about them except what is glamorous. That is what you are doing. You are thinking of life as you lived it when your husband was well and had a good job and your old circle of friends were about you and everything was prosperous and happy.

You can't bring that back. Go back and see how hard it is for men out of work to get any sort of a job. See how poor so many of your old friends have got to be. See how they have to skimp on butter and eggs and every kind of food. See how cramped are their quarters. Have your nerves torn with the noise of the city. And, my word for it, you will go back willingly to your quiet, comfortable, country life where your husband can have his health and be happy.

Uncle Wiggily's Last Snowball

By HOWARD R. GARIS

One day Baby Bunty, the orphan rabbit, came hopping home to Uncle Wiggily's hollow stump bungalow and she was crying.

"Why, Bunty, what's the matter?" asked Uncle Wiggily. "What happened to make you cry?"

"Buster threw a snowball at me and hit me on the nose," said Bunty, hopping to Mr. Longears to be comforted. He could see that her little twinkling nose was red instead of pink.

"What did you say Buster threw at you?" asked Uncle Wiggily, looking around for the funny little rabbit boy to punish him if he had been bad.

"Buster threw a snowball," said Baby Bunty.

"A snowball my dear, at this time of year!" exclaimed Uncle Wiggily in surprise. "Why, this is the last day of April. Tomorrow will be the first of May, when I hope to gather flowers. April showers bring May flowers, you know. Now don't tell me Buster threw a snowball at you so near the first of May."

"But he did, Unkie Wig," said Bunty, still sobbing. "He threw a lot of 'em at me."

NO SNOW HERE

"Now, Bunty," said Uncle Wiggily kindly. "I know in some parts of the land there is snow at this time of year. Up in Canada and other nice places there is snow and of course, at the North Pole. But here in Woodland we never have any snow the last of April, so how could Buster throw a snowball at you?"

"I don't know, Unkie Wig, but he did," said Bunty.

"Yes, he did, Daddicums," said Jingle, hopping along just then.

"And I know where he got the snow," said Jangle, who was Jingle's twin sister.

"Where?" asked Uncle Wiggily.

"Down back of our school," went on Jangle. "It's a deep hole like the letter V with steep sides. The sun hardly ever shines there even on Fourth of July. In the winter the hole was filled with snow. And a lot of snow is there yet. The boys climb down to the bottom and get snow to make balls to throw at us girls."

BUSTER TO BE PUNISHED

"Oh, now I understand," said Uncle Wiggily. "Yes, snow may last a long time down in a deep gully where the warm sun can't melt it. Well, Baby Bunty, I shall punish Buster for this and I'll not let the boys throw any more snowballs at you girls."

On his way to find Buster to punish him for snowballing Bunty so near May Day, Uncle Wiggily was chased in the woods by the Wrong Wolf. The Bad Chap ran after the rabbit gentleman, who had to hop very fast to keep out of the way. But the Wolf came on faster and faster and he was almost going to catch Mr. Longears when the rabbit came to the edge of the gully where Buster had found the snow.

"Ha! I know what I can do!" laughed Uncle Wiggily. "I can snowball the Wolf." Quickly hopping into the deep hole at the bottom of which the snow lay, Uncle Wiggily made some balls and tossed them up.

"What's this? What's this?" howled the Wolf as the summer snowballs fell all around him. "Snow this time of year. There's something funny going on around here! Uncle Wiggily must have a snowball fairy down in that hole helping him. I guess I'd better run away and catch that rabbit another time. Snow when it's almost May Day. Very funny!"

So away ran the Wolf and then Uncle Wiggily came out of the snowball hole and he did not punish Buster very hard. For, after all, if it had not been for what Buster did the Wolf would have caught the rabbit.

And if the keyhole will twist the door knob very fast to give the fly sitting on it a merry-go-round ride, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily's May Pole.

HOROSCOPE

FRIDAY, MAY 1, 1936

Adverse planetary aspects rule today, according to astrology, although there is a promising sign for persons who occupy positions in the sun. Executives in government and heads of big business should benefit.

Deceit and intrigue will be manifested in many national and international matters. Persons as well as groups may be susceptible to malign influences.

It is not a fortunate day for women. They are likely to incur enmities under this rule of the stars. Again the seers warn that sex antagonisms may be revealed both in business and in politics. A movement—or at least an effort—to deprive women of the ballot is foreseen.

Late today sinister omens may affect industry. Difficulties with employees are indicated. Old policies and established customs are to be deserted in the development of trade.

Aviation will occupy more attention each week and the opening of a new route for air travel will attract many tourists.

Stock markets now will focus attention as sharp advances and unexpected fluctuations affect values of standard securities. Money is to be much discussed with surprising results, it is predicted.

Persons whose birthdate it is, have the augury of a year of intellectual or spiritual advancement. Subjects of this sign probably will undergo unusual experiences and win many new friends.

Children born on this day may possess imaginative and sensitive natures. Subjects of this sign usually have artistic gifts or sympathies.

George Inness, landscape artist, was born on this day, 1825. Others who have celebrated it as a birthday include Douglas Tilden, sculptor, 1860; Joseph Addison, English essayist, 1672; Jacob Albright, religious leader, 1759; Edward William Edwards, manufacturer, 1874.

W. H. CURLE TO RETIRE

Changes in Personnel of Canadian Pacific's Legal Department Announced

Montreal, April 30.—W. H. Curle, K.C., general counsel, Canadian Pacific Railway Company, will retire under the company's pension regulations on May 1, according to an announcement here yesterday by Sir Edward Beatty, chairman and president. He will be succeeded as general counsel by E. P. Flintoft, K.C., at present general solicitor. George A. Walker, K.C., assistant general solicitor, will succeed Mr Flintoft.

Mr. Curle joined the C.P.R. as an assistant solicitor in the law department at Winnipeg on March 10, 1908, but prior to that had already earned a well-deserved reputation in the legal circles in eastern Canada. He studied law in the office of the Corporation Counsel of the City of Toronto in association with Sir William Ralph Meredith, afterwards Chief Justice of Ontario, and C. R. Biggar, K.C.

After completing his studies Mr. Curle practised law with the firm of Scott, Scott, Curle and Gleason in Ottawa, proceeding to Winnipeg in March, 1908, as assistant solicitor of the Canadian Pacific at that point. He was promoted to the post of solicitor, Winnipeg, on May 1, 1910, and on October 1, 1912, resigned in order to practice law in Winnipeg with the firm of Andrews, Curle and Burbidge. He subsequently served as chairman to the Workmen's Compensation Board of Manitoba, rejoining the Canadian Pacific Railway on March 21 1917, as general solicitor in the law department, Montreal. Mr. Curle was promoted to the position of general counsel for the company on March 11, 1929.

Mr. Flintoft, who succeeds Mr. Curle in the post of general counsel, studied law at Osgoode Hall, Toronto, and in the office of E. F. B. Johnstone, K.C. Subsequently he practiced law in Waterloo, Ont., as a member of the firm of McBride and Flintoft. He joined the Canadian Pacific Railway November 1, 1908.

Mr. Walker in reality has given a lifetime of service to the Canadian Pacific. He first joined the company at the age of twelve years, serving as office boy in the solicitor's office at Toronto. He progressed steadily to the position of chief clerk, which he attained in 1901. He studied law at Osgoode Hall, Toronto, and on July 1, 1906, was a barrister in the law department at Toronto. On March 1, 1911, he became solicitor at Calgary, and on October 23, 1918, acting manager of the Department of Natural Resources at that centre. Mr. Walker returned to the law department at Calgary as solicitor in April, 1919, becoming assistant general solicitor of the law department at Montreal on November 1, 1934.

Those specials will consist of standard and tourist sleeping cars, first class day coaches, observation cars and dining cars. The first special will leave Vancouver at 6.45 p.m., July 12; Edmonton, July 13; Sasaktoon, July 14, with two specials out of Winnipeg on the night of July 14, arriving Montreal, July 16. Three special cars will leave Prince Rupert July 10, and will join "Vimy" special at Edmonton.

Indicative of the great interest being taken in the unveiling of Canada's memorial a Vimy in July is the fact that the large numbers who will make the pilgrimage from Canada will be joined at the seaboard by fellow veterans now residing in the United States. A number of special trains, including three from California, will be operated under the auspices of the Canadian Legion.

EMPRESS TO BE IN FILM

Vancouver, April 30.—The 22,000-ton liner Empress of Canada will be featured in a prologue to the British-Gaumont film, "The Great Divide," based on Alan Sullivan's romantic story of the same name which features the struggle to construct the Canadian Pacific Railway across Canada more than fifty years ago.

In the prologue will be scenes of ships, trains, hotels and resorts showing the ramifications of the Canadian Pacific today, and then the scene will dissolve into a close-up of a railway construction train of 1885, George R. Busby, associate producer of the British film said yesterday on his arrival with four other technical experts from Revelstoke where they have been screening preliminary work in the Rockies and Selkirks for the past month.

Busby, with Sidney Bonnett, his chief cameraman, who photographed the Houston aerial expedition over Mount Everest in 1933 and worked on the Gaumont picture, "Rhodes, the Empire Builder," in Africa and other assistants, looked over the Empress of Canada yesterday, making plans for filming departure scenes when the big white ship sails out of here Saturday for Honolulu and the Far East.

Stars of the picture, Hollywood's Dick Arlen, and English Lily Palmer, are coming later with the main cast to start work about the end of May, Busby said.

In the meantime he is seeking talent for "bit" parts around Victoria and Vancouver among local dramatic societies.

Will Not Sell Indies Vessels

Ottawa, April 30.—Railway Minister Howe said yesterday the government had no intention of selling the Canadian National Steamship Lines to the West Indies, when asked concerning rumors efforts were being made by a foreign private company to purchase them.

"You may make it quite clear we shall hold on to those boats to the bitter end," the minister stated.

Charges Federation Aiming At Control

Head of American-Hawaiian Steamship Company Says Group Trying to Control Distribution of Country

Canadian Press

Washington, April 30.—The statement that the Maritime Federation, Pacific Coast shipping union, is trying to gain control of all the nation's transportation facilities was made today before the convention of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States.

Roger D. Lapham, president of the American-Hawaiian Steamship Company, San Francisco, added that Harry Bridges, maritime leader, has violated arbitration agreements.

After detailing what he termed the union's "unfairness," Lapham said:

"Those of us who have lived close to the picture and have watched the developments of the past two years were not surprised at the recent seamen labor trouble on the Atlantic coast.

"We know that Bridges's aim is to extend his control to the Gulf and the Atlantic and that he hopes to have a maritime federation which will supplant all A.F. and L. union in shipping.

"Once having secured that control, the next step will be control of all trucks by refusing to handle cargoes to or from truck owners who do not submit to affiliation with the maritime federation.

"If that move is successful, the next step is to secure control of the railroad unions.

"Once that is secured, Bridges and his group will control the distribution of the country and whoever controls distribution rules the country."

DESTROYERS DUE HOME TOMORROW

Canada's West Coast destroyers Skeena and Vancouver, which have been absent three months on a cruise to the West Indies, are expected to reach their base in Esquimalt Harbor tomorrow morning. Definite time of arrival will be received here this evening.

The destroyers left Esquimalt the third week in January and spent some days in the West Indies, carrying out manoeuvres with the Saguenay and the Champlain and several ships of the Royal Navy.

Rosebank Freed From Dirt Fill

Vancouver, April 30.—The Kingsley Navigation Company's Ss. Rosebank was freed yesterday evening from a dirt fill, where she grounded early Wednesday while nosing into Ballantyne Pier.

The vessel, inbound from San Francisco with a cargo of salt, was pulled free shortly before midnight by two tugs of the Pacific Salvage Company. Part of the cargo was lightered before the attempt to free the ship was made.

It was not believed the vessel had suffered any damage.

Was Stowaway Across Ocean

Woman on Ss. Georgic Spent Week in Tank Room on Promenade Deck

London, April 30.—A woman who gave the name "Mrs. Draper," and whose description was believed to tally with that of the missing wife of Eben S. Draper, a former State Senator of Massachusetts, stowed away on the steamer Georgic during its Atlantic crossing from New York and was not found until yesterday, ship's officers disclosed.

Mrs. Eben S. Draper, forty-two, disappeared from a sanitarium at Katonah, N.Y., April 19. On a blotter in a hotel room in which she later stayed, was found the name of the Georgic. Yesterday Draper announced in Hopedale, Mass., he had received a cablegram from his wife, sent from the Georgic in London.

Officers of the liner said Mrs. Draper emerged yesterday from a tank room on the promenade deck and disembarked here. One officer said she "went ashore with a friend."

"It is understood," he added, "that she will return to the United States on Monday."
